MEDIATION RECESS NOW MOST PROBABLE

Unless Carranza Sends Assurance To-morrow Proceedings Will Stop

SOME MAINTAIN HOPE FOR JOINT CONFERENCE

Villa's Campaign Halted Because He Has Run Short of Ammunition

REBEL GENERAL IS BACK AT TORREON ONCE MORE

Washington, June 29.—Despite continued expressions of hope that the plans for Mexican mediation will not fail, apprehension was shown to-day in official quarters. Considerable significance was attached to the fact that the mediation conference plans to take a recess unless there is some definite assurance from Carranza by to-morrow that his agents will meet the Huerta delegates and representatives of the United States on plans for a provisional government outlined in the recent protocol.

Carranza's latest reply to the mediators asking for time to consult his general, who participated in the plans of Guadalupe, before agreeing to enter the proposed peace conference, was said here not to have reached the mediators, but that probably would get to Niagara Falls by Tuesday morning.

Luis Cabrera, one of Carranza's agents here, said to-day he believed the general would yield to the wishes of the United States, and the invitation of the mediators, after he had consulted his chiefs.

Continued reports of the widening of the breach between Villa and Carranza, however, have served to disturb officials here. Alfredo Braceda, personal representative of Carranza here, after a conference with Cabrera sent a telegram to the chief asking for definite word about the mediation conference as soon as possible.

El Paso, Tex., June 29.—General Villa's campaign apparently are postponed indefinitely. Lack of ammunition is given as the principal cause. However, some recent developments, yet concealed, in the Carranza-Villa estrangement were believed by partisans of both factions here to have much to do with the quietness of the situation below this point. The battle at Zacatecas, taken by Villa last week, occasioned the expenditure of nearly all his ammunition during the four days almost continuous fighting.

Villa has not been able to get more ammunition from the United States on account of the continued strict embargo along the frontier. It is said he has not been assisted in this regard by General Carranza, who has ammunition in the arsenal at Monterey and Saltillo. Villa only has the little ammunition left after the four days' fighting at Zacatecas, and an unstable quantity compared with the federal forces.

General Villa has returned to Torreón, according to telegrams from him dated at that place. Some matters connected with his strained relations with Carranza, it is stated, will be taken up by Villa as well as his problem in securing ammunition for his army.

LANSDOWNE TO SUPPORT IRISH AMENDING BILL

Second Reading Wednesday Will Be Allowed by Unionist Peers.

London, June 29.—Lord Lansdowne, Unionist leader in the House of Lords, intends supporting the home rule amending bill; on its second reading on Wednesday, but owing to Lord Willoughby de Broke's amendment to reject it, it is certain that a vote will be taken. The Unionist peers, however, are pretty certain to allow the second reading. Committees of peers are already drafting amendments.

The opposition will seek to remove the time limit, and extend the exclusion proposal to the whole of Ulster, and will also insert provisions reserving the post office to the imperial government, and the taking away of power to vary customs duties. The omission to any reference to this much canvassed question is one of the most curious features of the amending bill. It is probably that in this matter the government will accept the opposition amendments or a modification of them.

HUDSON'S BAY FEELS TRADE DEPRESSION

Sir Thomas Skinner Tells Shareholders of Canadian Business

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR LAND LAST YEAR

Reference Made to Municipal Taxation Increase; Says Control Desirable

STORES CONSTRUCTION IN CANADA IS UPHELD

London, June 29.—At the Hudson's Bay company meeting to-day Sir Thomas Skinner drew the attention of the shareholders to the accounts which were now presented in a simple and more instructive form, showing separately the yield of stores and fur business. Commercial depression, he said, had prevailed throughout the world to a greater or less extent, and Canada had suffered to a great extent. All branches of the company's business had been affected. The combined profits reached £177,878, and after expenses left a balance of £86,863, and with the amount brought forward there was a total of £192,070. The balance to the credit of the land account was £451,938. The quantity of fur received considerably exceeded the year previous and if the prices had been maintained the value would have been £495,000 instead of £448,000, which was realized.

The stores trade was not productive of good results, an excellent harvest being the saving factor in a very serious situation. Another good harvest, however, had been secured. Sales of farm lands approximated in acreage to those of six years ago but the price realized had increased ninety-two per cent. Last year's prices of £4 9s. being the highest attained by the company, notwithstanding that the lands sold had been inferior. The present stagnation in the demand for town lots was the natural result of over-capitalization but the company's property is so well located, said Sir Thomas, that the inevitable demand for it must arise with the development of the cities concerned. Installments and interest were not being paid with the usual promptness.

The chairman also alluded to the heavier demands for municipal and other taxation. The pace in regard to this, he said, had long been excessive. Some control was desirable and legislation for this purpose had been introduced by the governments of Saskatchewan and British Columbia. It was not anticipated that the increased taxation this year will be at all in proportion to the previous twelve months, several cities having practically adopted last year's assessment. The chairman also noted the continued railway activity.

Speaking of the oil possibilities of Alberta Sir Thomas said that the Hudson's Bay company owned 12,000 acres within a radius of twelve miles from the Dingman well, and as they now reserved the rights of all underground wealth when selling land they were carefully watching developments in this regard.

The receipts for the first quarter of the present year were £81,350 against £144,817 for the same quarter last year. One shareholder expressed the opinion that the company were erecting palatial stores and far ahead of requirements for many years. The chairman did not agree. Never in the history of Europe or America, he said, had there been such an increase in population as in Canada recently, and the company had built for the future as well as for the present.

Richard E. Burbridge, stores commissioner and a director, being invited by the shareholders to give some account of the sales shop business, said he was most highly impressed with the enormous future for the company in that direction. He denied that there had been any extravagance. The shareholders must be patient, he said, and not expect big returns in the first few years.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, Heir to the Austrian Throne and His Wife Are Assassinated on Street

BOSNIA CRIME WAS CAREFULLY PLANNED

Plotters Thought to Be Organized With Headquarters at Belgrade

ARCHDUKE WAS AWARE VISIT WAS DANGEROUS

Hearing of Peril Duchess Said Place Was With Her Husband

SEVERAL BOMBS WERE FOUND ALONG RAILWAY

London, June 29.—Every dispatch to-day from Sarajevo and Vienna brought additional evidence that the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenberg was one of the most carefully planned crimes ever carried out against royalty. Indications from the scene of the tragedy show that it was engineered by persons possessing more mature organizing ability than that of the youthful assassins. It is generally thought in Austria and Hungary that the plotters had their headquarters in Belgrade, the Serbian capital.

Serbian hatred of Austrians, which always has been violent, has been fomented by the newspapers in Belgrade and by agitators throughout Serbia and Bosnia, who have helped to inflame the minds of the students and to induce them to sacrifice their lives in the belief that they will go down to history as patriots.

Yesterday's crime is likely to have a contrary effect to that desired by its authors. Even before the bodies of the murdered couple have been interred, the Austrian authorities are contemplating severe measures against the Serbs in Austria and Bosnia. These measures are likely further to embitter Austria and Russia, the protector of all the Serbs.

Was Told of Peril.
Archduke Francis Ferdinand, it is asserted to-day, was well aware of the danger he was running during his tour of Bosnia, which he undertook as inspector-general of the forces of the empire.

This title was conferred on him last year by Emperor Francis Joseph. His chief task was to inspect the Austrian army which guarded the Serbian frontier during the recent Balkan wars and prevented anti-encroachments by Serbian troops.

The Serbian minister at Vienna told Archduke Francis Ferdinand of the peril of his visit to Sarajevo at the present time and implored him even if he insisted on going there himself at least to leave the duchess at home.

When the Duchess of Hohenberg was informed, however, of the dangerous nature of the journey, the archduke was about to take, she said her place was at her husband's side.

Servians Lack Respect.
When the archduke and the duchess arrived Saturday at Sarajevo some signs of hostility were shown by the Serb portions of the population. Just before the couple passed through the city the authorities succeeded in getting rid of a fanatic display of Serbian flags which the people had hoisted instead of flying the Austrian colors.

Feeling, however, was carried to the extreme when at a session of the Bosnian diet, called to express sorrow at the death of the archduke, four Serbian deputies appeared in light suits in contrast to the sombre black of their fellow deputies.

The plans of the assassins contemplated, it is said, the blowing up of the royal train when the archduke and his wife were leaving Sarajevo, in case the attempt by Gavrilo Princip failed.

It was learned that several bombs were found along the Sarajevo railway, over which the archduke and his wife would have travelled.

Princip's plans were carefully laid. He secreted himself behind a building at a spot where it was necessary for the archduke's car to slacken speed. Some accounts of the crime say that Princip actually stood on the step of the car as he fired the shots.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED WHEN MOB CONTROLS CITY

Bomb Exploded on Streets This Morning Signal for Rioting and Anti-Serbian Demonstration—Shops Stoned and Looted by Croatian Students

Sarajevo, June 29.—A bomb thrown by a youth standing on the corner of the main street of the Bosnian capital, was the signal this morning for a serious anti-Serbian outbreak, which the troops found considerable difficulty in quelling.

The only damage done by the bomb was a slight injury to a passing Mussulman, but the rougher element seized on the incident as an excuse to start a demonstration.

They were joined by a number of Croatian students and the crowd passed along the streets stoning the windows of Serbian shops, clubs, schools and houses and looting the interiors.

The manifestants paraded the streets with a portrait of the Emperor Francis Joseph at their head. They sang the Austrian national anthem and attacked everything Serbian until they were confronted by overwhelming troops.

Martial Law Proclaimed in District.
Martial law was proclaimed to-day, both in the city and the district of Sarajevo in consequence of the assassination yesterday. The proclamation was accompanied by the beat of drums and the posting of placards. All the chief points of the city were immediately occupied by troops.

EUROPE CONDOLES OVER TRAGIC EVENT

Vienna, June 29.—From all parts of the dual monarchy as well as from most foreign countries messages poured in to-day testifying to the profoundly painful impression produced throughout the world by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg. The newspapers pay the warmest tributes to the late archduke and his wife, and reflect the sorrow and sympathy evoked among all classes by their death.

Although to-day was a holiday, the newspapers appeared and devoted their columns exclusively to yesterday's tragic event. All of them dwell on the devotion to duty of the late archduke and to the important services he rendered to the army and navy, while touching reference was made to the family relations of the archduke and his consort, which had been marked by undisturbed happiness.

CHARLES FRANCIS JOSEPH IS NEW HEIR APPARENT TO THRONE OF AUSTRIA

Vienna, June 29.—When the old emperor arrived at a suburban station from Ischl he was greeted with cheers by large crowds. His Majesty drove in an open carriage to Schoenbrunn Castle, accompanied by a full staff of brilliantly-uniformed officers. He appeared to be in the best of health. He was received at the palace by the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, new heir-apparent to the throne.

DEATH MASKS TAKEN FUNERAL WILL TAKE PLACE COMING WEEK

Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 29.—Death masks of the archduke and the duchess were taken to-day and the bodies placed on a catafalque in the chapel of the palace and surrounded by a magnificent display of wreaths and other floral emblems from all parts of the country.

Vienna, June 29.—The two bodies of the murdered couple are expected to reach here to-morrow and will be buried next week at Anstetten, upper Austria, in accordance with the late archduke's wishes. Already the city is draped in mourning. It has been decided that the bodies are not to lie in state in the court chapel here as the duchess was not regarded as a member of the imperial family. The lying in state therefore will take place either at Stephen's cathedral or the Belvedere chapel.

The bomb thrown by Nedeljko Gavrilo, a Serb, at Sarajevo yesterday is reported to have been made at the Serbian gun factory at Kragujevac.

General expression was given by the press to the conviction that the people of the dual monarchy would rally round the person of the venerable Emperor.

Royal Personages Shot by Student Who Glories in His Crime—Party Returning in Automobile From Civic Reception at Annual Visit to Sarajevo, Bosnia, When Double Murder Was Committed

Assassin Saved From Lynching at Hands of Infuriated People

First Attempt to Kill Was Made With Bomb—Archduke Warded Off Missile Before It Exploded and Injured Two Members of His Suite

Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 28.—Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and the Duchess of Hohenberg, his morganatic wife, were shot dead to-day by a student on the main street of the Bosnian capital, a short time after they had escaped death from a bomb hurled at the royal automobile. They were slain while passing through the city on their annual visit to the annexed provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The archduke was struck full in the face and the duchess was shot through the abdomen and throat. They died a few minutes after reaching the palace to which they were hurried with all possible speed.

Warded Off Bomb That Was Thrown.
Those responsible for the assassination took care it should prove effective, as there were two assaults, the first with a bomb and the second with a revolver. The bomb was thrown at the royal automobile as it was proceeding to the town hall, where a reception was to be held. The archduke saw the missile hurling through the air, and warded it off with his arm. It fell outside the car and exploded, slightly wounding two aides de camp in a second car, and a half dozen spectators.

It was on the return from the reception that the tragedy to the long list of those that have darkened the pages of the recent history of the Hapsburgs occurred. As the royal automobile reached a prominent point in the route to the palace, an eighth grade student, Gavrilo Princip, sprang out of the crowd and poured a deadly fire of bullets from an automatic pistol at the archduke and princess.

Two in Next Car Were Injured.
Princip and a fellow conspirator, a compositor from Trebinje, named Gabrinovic, barely escaped lynching by the infuriated spectators. They were finally seized by the police, who offered them protection. Both are natives of the annexed province of Herzegovina.

The first attempt against the archduke occurred outside the girls' high school. His car had restarted after a brief pause for an inspection of the building when Gabrinovic hurled the bomb. This was so successfully warded off by the archduke that it fell directly beneath the following car, the occupants of which, Count Von Boos Waldeck and Col. Morizzo were struck by shivers of iron.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand stopped his car, and after making enquiries as to their injuries, and lending what aid he could, continued his journey to the town hall. There the burgomaster began the customary address, but the archduke sharply interrupted and snapped out:

"Herr Burgomaster, we have come here to pay you a visit and bombs have been thrown at us. This is altogether an amazing indignity."

After a pause, the archduke said: "Now, you may speak."

On Errand of Mercy When Killed.
On leaving the hall the archduke and his wife announced their intention of visiting the wounded members of their suite at the hospital on their way back to the palace. They were bound on their mission of mercy when at the corner of Rudolf Strasse and Franz Joseph Strasse, Princip opened fire.

The assassins were interrogated by the police and both seemed to glory in their exploit. Princip said he had studied at Belgrade. He declared he had long intended to kill some eminent person from nationalist motives.

Princip is 18 years old, Nedeljko Gabrinovic is 21.
After his unsuccessful attempt to blow up the imperial visitors, Gabrinovic sprang into the river Miljacka in an effort to escape, but witnesses of his crime plunged after him and seized him.

ARCHDUKE ON COAST IN SUMMER OF 1893

Seattle, June 29.—Archduke Francis Ferdinand paid Seattle a brief visit in the summer of 1893, on his tour round the world. He arrived at Vancouver on an Empress liner from the Orient, came to Seattle by train and went eastward as speedily as possible on a special car. At Spokane a newspaperman contrived to get into his car and was thrown out by the archduke's orders. He described Francis Ferdinand as a very unpleasant man.

The archduke was joking with the count about his precautions when the reports of several shots rang out. The aim of the assassin was so true (Concluded on page 7.)

EMPRESS COMMISSION TO REVIEW EVIDENCE

Counsel for the Government Blames Officers of Both Vessels for Fatality

Quebec, June 28.—The Empress of Ireland wreck inquiry was Saturday adjourned sine die to allow of the commission considering its findings. The last day was marked by a general review of the evidence by Edmund L. Newcombe, K. C., who has represented the Dominion government.

Mr. Newcombe said that "probably neither the officers of the Storstad nor the Empress had intentionally lied. He thought, however, that they were both to blame, the Storstad for having ported her helm in a fog, and the Empress for stopping when the navigation regulations only called for her to slow up. He suggested that the rapid foundering of the Empress was due, in being closed, and if it were found that the portholes had enabled water to reach the interior of the ship never again should it be possible, he urged, for that to be a contributory cause to a disaster. They should be closed by a signal from the bridge the moment a fog appeared. The same applied to the watertight doors.

SOCIALISTS IGNORE EMPEROR OF GERMANY

Refusal to Join in Cheers Still is Matter of Comment in Press

Berlin, June 28.—It is several weeks since the Reichstag was closed, but the action of the Socialists in remaining seated while the usual cheers for the Emperor were given is still the subject of press comment. There is ordinarily little sympathy lost between the non-Socialist organs of the left and those of the right, but they have shown great unanimity in attacking the Socialists' demonstration as a breach of good manners.

The North German Gazette, undoubtedly speaking for the government, declares that the next Reichstag must take measures to prevent a repetition of such public insults to the Emperor. In the Prussian diet, the Conservatives interpellated on the matter, desiring to know whether the prosecuting attorney's office had been asked to proceed against the Socialists for lese majeste, or whether it intended to take such action. Replying, the minister of justice, while he severely criticized the action of the Socialists, declared that he doubted greatly whether it would be possible to get convictions, since it would probably be held that the giving of the customary cheers for the Emperor constituted a part of the Reichstag proceedings. The imperial constitution provides that deputies may not be brought to account for their actions or utterances in the Reichstag. An acquittal, said the minister, would place the Socialists in the light of victors, and a conviction would make them appear martyrs. In either case the result could not benefit the state, and he had been therefore decided to take no notice of it.

In 1904 the elder Liebknecht refused to rise when cheers were proposed for the Emperor in the Reichstag. The authorities prepared a complaint against him, and asked the Reichstag to consent to his prosecution, considerable doubt, in any event, whether a refusal or neglect to stand up when the Emperor is being cheered is sufficient to constitute the crime of lese majeste. Indications of a sharpening of the campaign against the Socialists are observable in many places throughout the empire. The police authorities are particularly active against the workmen's gymnastic societies. They proceed by declaring them political associations out of hand, and acting under this declaration, they forbid minors from attending them. The Socialists maintain that these associations are non-political and devoted entirely to gymnastic work, but the police have been able to bring evidence enough to satisfy the courts, in all cases thus far carried to the courts, that the associations are a part of the party propaganda for winning recruits among the young.

IF IN OFFICE UNONISTS HAVE HOME RULE BILL

Birrell Speaks on Irish Question; Says That Exclusion Not Wanted.

London, June 28.—"Home rule was inevitable," declared Irish Secretary Birrell, speaking in Yorkshire on Saturday. "If the present government disappeared to-morrow the first thing the Unionist government would have to do would be to promote a home rule bill, whatever they might be led to call it, or whatever it might be called. Ulster knew the present bill was secure."

Mr. Birrell deplored that any portion of Ireland should be separated from another for six years, and did not believe any party in Ireland wanted it. Any other proposals would be carefully considered by the present government, he said.

GREECE AND TURKEY ONCE MORE FRIENDLY

Constantinople, June 28.—The Greek reply to the last Turkish note, which has been received, is couched in a friendly spirit, and accepts the proposals of Turkey regarding the disposal of Turkish and Greek property, and the appointment of a Greco-Turkish commission to supervise the arrangements. Greece hopes that the incidents which have disturbed the good relations between the two countries will not recur, and desires that the Muslims in Greek territory are treated on an equality with the other inhabitants.

London, June 28.—The body of the late E. W. Cox, president of the Canadian Assurance company, who died at Hythe on Sunday, was conveyed to London the same night, and will be taken to Toronto probably by the Lusitania this week. During the five weeks he was in England the deceased sought the advice of several eminent specialists. He also received benefit from the most recent discoveries of radium treatments. Improvement followed, but serious complications set in, which proved rapidly fatal.

Maple Creek, Sask., June 28.—The year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. George Lexty, of Golden Prairie, 23 miles west of here, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home on Saturday afternoon. Both parents were away at the time. The cause of the fire was an overheated stovepipe.

HID FOUR MONTHS IN CAVE AT POINT GREY

Man Wanted for Murder Traced by Police Who Follow His Wife

Vancouver, June 28.—Nickane Tastopla, for four months a fugitive from justice, was yesterday arrested by Detectives McDonald and Rice, of the Vancouver department, charged with attempted murder, it being alleged that one night in February he stabbed Dominic Caperto five times in a drunken brawl at 609 Harris street. Following the stabbing, Tastopla made his escape and was not discovered until yesterday.

The method of Tastopla's capture is dramatic in the extreme. For four months Tastopla has lived in a hole which he dug under a huge stump in West Point Grey. The secret was only betrayed unconsciously by the hunted man's wife, who yesterday carried provisions to Tastopla's hiding place, and who was trailed to the stump by the detectives.

For some time the police have believed that the man's wife was aware of her husband's whereabouts, and have watched her. Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock the two detectives went on guard at the house where the woman lived. Several hours later she came out with a basket and took a car going west. They followed her until she got off the car, and in a partially cleared section in West Point Grey, saw her meet her husband and give him the provisions in the basket. When all arrangements had been completed, Tastopla's hiding place was rushed, and the man placed under arrest. He made no resistance.

During the four months in which Tastopla has lived in his underground cave, he has succeeded in following out a capacious dwelling place, which he lined with oilcloth and floored with fine sand. A bed made of fragrant cedar branches and blankets was placed on one side of the floor, and he had made a rude table and several chairs with boxes and logs. He seldom dared to make much fire, but times at night he built a small fire to keep himself warm. He expressed himself as quite contented while he had plenty of cigarettes, and could make a warm drink occasionally.

CARRIED ASHORE AND CRUSHED DURING STORM

Duluth, Minn., June 28.—In a north-west gale which has blown at the rate of between forty and sixty miles an hour since early Saturday the barge George H. Hartnell left at anchor outside the Duluth entry by the steamer Samuel Kirby, was carried hard aground a few blocks from the entry, and is laying broadside to the sea, with her prow badly crushed in a collision with the steamer Harvey Brown. The steamer Harvey Brown left the harbor in an attempt to get a line to the barge Hartnell, which was calling for help. After two hours' work a line was secured, only to break a minute later when the ships came together, damaging the prow of the Hartnell, and badly crushing her bow and the bow of the Brown. No boats are long overdue or thought to be in danger.

They admitted that they entered the armory on several occasions.

Locomotor Ataxia, Heart Trouble and Nervous Spells Yielded to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It would be easy to tell you how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures locomotor ataxia and derangements of heart and nerves, but it may be more satisfactory to you to read this letter. Mrs. Thos. Allan, R.F.D., 3 Sombra, Ont., writes: "Five years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that illness I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs (locomotor ataxia) and could not walk straight. At night I would have severe nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improvement after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment can now walk, eat and sleep well, have no nervous spells and do not require heart medicine. I have told several of my neighbors of the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." Regina, Sask., June 29.—Gold cloth vestments valued at $4,000, the property of Bishop Mathew, who is now on a visit to Rome, were stolen on Saturday from the Holy Rosary cathedral. The vestments were gifts from friends of the bishop in Quebec, and were highly prized.

FORTY-SIX MILLIONS UNDER PROHIBITION

To-morrow Last Day of Liquor Sales in State of West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va., June 28.—State-wide prohibition of the liquor business in West Virginia becomes effective next Tuesday midnight. It brings the total number of states in the prohibition column up to nine.

With West Virginia added, the list will be: Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Tennessee, West Virginia. These nine states of total prohibition territory, plus the local prohibition area, make up 2,137,724 square miles in which 46,927,550 persons or nearly fifty per cent. of the country's population live according to the latest figures of the prohibition leaders.

The 92,000 majority with which the people of West Virginia accepted the dry proposition was relatively the largest ever given by any state. It was approximately 2 to 1 for statewide suppression of the liquor business. It was a surprise even to the prohibition forces, who were indebted largely to the determined stand which many of the large employers took in favor of their cause. The state has a population of 1,221,119 by the census of 1910.

The mandate of the legislature, embodied in the Yost bill for the enforcement of the new law, beginning July 1, departs in many respects from the methods hitherto tried along this line. The chief features centre about the creation of a commissioner of prohibition, whose particular business it will be to see that by next Tuesday midnight some 1,200 liquor selling places in the state have disposed of their stocks and that thereafter all persons shall be punished by law if they keep liquor for sale.

The new office of commissioner of prohibition automatically falls to State Tax Commissioner Fred O. Blue, of this city, who has been spending several months in preparation for strict enforcement of the new law.

To save the state the time and expense of taking violations before state courts, he has been urging municipal ordinances governing the violations, thus permitting the cases to be brought before the local courts.

In an effort to instruct the people as to the provisions of the new law, Commissioner Blue has also been lecturing throughout the state.

"In other states," says Mr. Blue, "where prohibition has been adopted, one of the forces that has had to be contended with has been the drug store. The Yost law will regulate this feature. Druggists may sell alcohol only to persons not addicted to its use upon prescription of a reputable physician, who has examined the person and in detail set forth in the prescription the reasons for the use of alcohol. The governing bodies of druggists have approved of this plan. For scientific or mechanical purposes alcohol will be sold only after affidavit as to its intended uses, and uniform records of all such sales will be kept, to be inspected periodically by those in charge of the enforcement of the law. No druggist, however, can sell in any form whiskey, brandy, ale of any beverage of an intoxicating nature.

"The Yost law also undertakes to do away with the drinking clubs, which have been the sources of so much trouble in other states," he says. "It provides that any person directly or indirectly associated in keeping such a club house or other place where liquor is kept for gift, barter or sale, shall be punishable upon conviction by a fine or by imprisonment from one to six months.

GAINS FOR LIBERALSIN ONTARIO CONCEDED

Highest Pitch of Excitement Known for Years Over Election in Progress To-day

Toronto, June 28.—In the election eve predictions in the Ontario political arena both sides are making surprising concessions, and no less generous of the Conservatives concede the opposition ten more seats, while less hopeful Conservatives are taking odds to-night that the Liberals will have thirty to thirty-five seats in the next legislature. On the other hand the wildest guesses of the most hopeful Liberals claim for their party a gain of from forty to forty-five seats.

Less credulous Liberals, however, when specifying the seats they claim they will gain, can name not more than fifteen.

An official high up in the councils of the Conservative party, and who has stumped the province thoroughly during the campaign, concedes after careful study to the Liberals, that is, ten more than they held in the last legislature. Following are the seats he concedes: Simcoe Centre, Cochrane, North Essex, Windsor, Prince Edward, West Wellington, North Brant, South Wentworth, Lincoln and South Perth. In Simcoe Centre there was only a small majority for the government in the last election, and they fear they cannot even hold that. In Windsor they fear that the three-cornered fight there with Hon. Dr. Reaume, former minister of public works, will eliminate that cabinet candidate. In Prince Edward the field has discouraged the government, and they think that the seat will go by the board, the opponent to the government candidate being a temperance candidate. The government also concedes the new Lincoln constituency, which is really the rural half of the old Lincoln.

The Conservatives, however, claim they will capture three seats from the Liberals—South Bruce, East Lambton and Prescott, Gustave Evanure's former seat.

The Liberals claim they will gain the following seats at least: One West, Peterboro, two Ottawa seats, one Grey, one Huron, West Lambton, Lennox, Nipissing, North York, North Ontario, West Wellington, one Wentworth, Windsor and Prince Edward. In two or three cases it will be noted that gains claimed by the Liberals are conceded by the Conservatives. The political composition of the last legislature was: Conservative, 85; Liberals, 19, and Labor, 1. One vacant seat, Prescott, through the resignation of Gustave Evanure. There will be 111 seats in the new house. The most hopeful Liberals divide the new house as follows: Conservatives, 64; Liberals, 46; Labor, 1. Estimates of the government would make the new government as follows: Conservatives, 80; Liberals, 30; Labor, 1.

Not in years has the province been wrought up to such a high pitch of excitement. Election talk is everywhere, and betting lively. Liberals were betting even money in Ottawa that they would gain two seats in that city. The Conservatives shake their heads incredulously.

ANCHOR LINE STEAMER ASHORE, ALL ARE SAFE

Londonderry, June 29.—The 1,016 passengers on board the Anchor liner California, which went ashore last night on Tory island during a dense fog, were successfully transferred to-day to the Donaldson liner Cassandra and a small coasting steamer without loss of life. The crews of several British torpedo boat destroyers assisted in transferring the passengers.

The California lies in a precarious position on the rocky coast, but it is expected it will be floated as soon as fine weather sets in. Her crew remains on board, although the water has penetrated three of her holds. Three hundred of the passengers of the California, whose destination was Ireland, were landed here.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 29.—Disorder broke out to-day among the striking Westinghouse employees in East Pittsburg, pickets surrounding all entrances to the works and preventing persons from entering. The presence of twenty armed guards from the plant had no effect on the excited crowds. Deputy sheriffs failed to quiet the people, and local police, reinforced by twenty special officers, could do nothing. Sheriff Richards arranged to call on the state for help and when a report spread that the Greensburg troop of the state constabulary was on its way to the town the excitement increased.

ASSASSINATION OF FERDINAND.

Death in violent form again has wrung its princely tribute from the royal house of Austria. The Archduke Francis Ferdinand, nephew of the aged head of the unhappy Hapsburg
dynasty and heir to the dual monarchy,
yesterday fell under a fusillade from an assassin in the Balkan province of Bosnia. It was the second attempt upon the life of the crown prince within a few hours. While on the way to a civic function a bomb was thrown at his carriage and injured a number of attendants but missed its illustrious marks. Undeterred by the failure, agents of the conspiracy determined to make another attempt while the Archduke was returning through the streets,
and this time they performed their terrible mission with fell thoroughness.
In like manner was Alexander II, of Russia, done to death by nihilists more than thirty years ago while returning to the Winter Palace from a military review, though in his case a bomb was used.

It is significant and not surprising that this grim tragedy was enacted in the province of Bosnia and in many places it will be regarded as an act
of retribution for the unscrupulous diplomacy which dictated the annexation of this state and Herzegovina by Austria eight years ago. This incident, attributed in some quarters to the aggressive influence of Francis Ferdinand, brought Europe to the verge of war. In flagrant disregard of the treaty of Berlin, contemptuously indifferent to the protests of its signatories, Austria
annexed the two provinces.
Back of Austria in this act
of piracy stood Germany, which was charged with the inspiration of it.
It is known that Russia's protest was met with the mobilization of the Kaiser's legions and the threat of the mailed fist. Russia, crippled by her war with Japan, was compelled to swallow the arrogant insult and behold the theft of the two states over the heads of their Slavic people without raising a hand. But the incident stimulated her like magic to rehabilitate her army and navy. Since that day when the German sword was rattled in the scabbard on her frontier she has been organizing her colossal resources in preparation for the time when the affair of Bosnia and Herzegovina will be cleared from the slate. The assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne is one of the sequels of the incident of 1906. The Balkan war was another. We mistake the temperament of the Slav
if the third is not a more lurid, devastating conflagration.

The bold though cynically unscrupulous policy of Austria with regard to these two Balkan provinces coincided with the entrance of Francis Ferdinand into participation in the political affairs of Europe. The nephew of the aged and venerated Francis Joseph, he had been adopted by the sovereign as his heir, but for years had been kept at arm's length from the affairs of the nation, having no more responsibility than one of the imperial clerks. Finally, as age began to fall heavily upon the ruler, he took his heir into his confidence and counsels, and ultimately Francis Ferdinand came to be an active,
dominating spirit in the policy of the nation, and an element to be reckoned with by Europe. The recent history of Vienna's course shows that the attitude of the dual monarchy became more sharply defined immediately the crown prince took the reins in his hands. Her army was reorganized and immensely strengthened; she embarked upon a naval policy which has changed
the face of the outlook in the Mediterranean; she took a threatening, belligerent stand during the Balkan war, and at one time was on the verge of coming to grips with Russia. In short, Francis Ferdinand had altered

the entire aspect of Austria's
foreign policy and the German Kaiser well might have rubbed his eyes in astonishment to behold a new star in the Germanic firmament, a star which one day might shine as effulgently as himself. Thus the assassin's fusillade yesterday
may affect profoundly the desti-nities of continental Europe. If a weakling succeeds the dead
prince chaos may be the fate of this fragment of the empire founded by Charlemagne. The discordant elements which make up the dual monarchy now are held together by the personality of the aged emperor. When this bond of union is removed subtle Russian diplomacy may light a powder train
to a combustion of far-reaching consequences.

Grim tragedy has stuck to the trail
of the House of Hapsburg more tenaciously in recent years than to that of any other royal house of Europe.
Even the melancholy Romanoffs cannot match the chapter of horrors which darken the history of this dynasty. A brother of the emperor, Maximilian,
under the inspiration of Napoleon III.,
sought an imperial diadem in Mexico.
He found, instead, death before a firing squad with his back to the adobe wall,
while his beautiful widow is immured
in an insane asylum. The emperor's son, the Crown Prince Rudolph, committed suicide in 1889 as the unhappy
climax of a love affair, and his wife,
the universally beloved Empress Elizabeth, was assassinated by an Italian anarchist in Geneva seventeen years ago. Surely Francis Joseph has quaffed
the cup of sorrow to its dregs.

THE UNSINKABLE SHIP.

A recent issue of the Scientific American contains an article on "The One Great Lesson of the St. Lawrence Disaster," in which it emphasizes the necessity of safeguarding against the frailty of the human element by making such catastrophes mechanically impossible. "The alarming fact in this case," the article points out, "is that this comparatively new and fine ship
went to the bottom in fourteen minutes after the collision." With this point in mind the article urges that the transcending consideration is that a vessel carrying thousands of people should be practically unsinkable. In this connection the writer says:

"It is perfectly certain that if no restrictions of a commercial kind
were imposed upon him, the designer, realizing the priceless value of the human freight that was to be committed to her care, would see to it that her construction was such as to render her practically unsinkable by any of the accidents of ocean travel."

The writer compares the present style of steamship with the Great Eastern and asserts that the modern shipbuilder has eliminated many of the structural elements which made the pioneer mammoth liner so safe. The double hull which she had had been abandoned, the multifarious division
and sub-divisions of watertight compartments are eliminated in favor of the larger space served by bulk-heads,
and longitudinal bulk-heads are omitted, and also the watertight decks.

"Where the lives of a whole town-full of people are concerned," concludes the paper, "the ships that carry them should be made fool-proof. This can be done; it is a mere matter of mechanics and construction. Certain it is that the human element and all the risks which come with it can never be eliminated. When two ships, such as the Empress of Ireland and the Storstad, which sighted each other some two miles apart, and were in constant conversation during a passing fog-cloud, through well understood signals, nevertheless blundered
into an inexcusable collision, surely it is time for the public to demand that the ships in which they trust their lives shall be made fool-proof."

"Throughout the whole of the official investigation which will be made of this terrible calamity, for Heaven's sake, let everybody, from Lord Mersey down, bear in mind the fact that the great lesson of the calamity is that we must safeguard against the frailty
of the human element by making such horrors as this mechanically impossible."

PROHIBITION IN THE STATES.

The liquor traffic has received a succession of severe blows in the United States within the last few years. The announcement that West Virginia will become what is known as a prohibition state at midnight to-morrow
gives emphasis to the immense gains
made by the forces of temperance.
According to the champions of the cause, total prohibition of the sale of liquor has been adopted by nine states. These and the states where the issue of licenses has been sharply restricted represent an area of 4,137,736 square miles and a population of 46,- 023,750, almost fifty per cent. of the population of the republic.

Of course, it is useless to deny that
in those nine states liquor is consumed in fairly large quantities. Resourceful inebriates are able always to devise means of circumventing the law

no matter how vigilantly it may be enforced, but undoubtedly the effect of the prohibition policy has been to decrease the crop of drunkards and reduce the trail of misery and desolation they leave behind them. Unless a man is addicted to the drink habit
he is not going to take the trouble and risk of sneaking into a resort and paying the high price of liquor illicitly
sold.

Those who have criticized the policy of the leader of the opposition in Ontario as impracticable and too radical might amend their views upon investigating the progress of the temperance propaganda in the states. Judging by the record Mr. Rowell appears to be campaigning in strikingly large company. One of the peculiarities disclosed by the campaign which ends
in Ontario to-day is the large number of alleged friends of temperance who have taken the platform in opposition to the Liberal leader. When there is no election pending they frequently declare that the cause of temperance reform is the most deserving of all reform movements, but when that cause conflicts with their politics it is thrown overboard.

The Colonist thinks a person who spends much time hating his country and making it appear contemptible in the eyes of the world must have a very uncomfortable season. There is something in that point of view. And we wonder what the feelings of the person must be who loves his country and beholds it being parcelled out in lumps to persons and interests in collusion with the government of the day and its future being mortgaged to proven marauders of the type of Mackenzie and Mann. What, furthermore, will the people who have to pay the piper for the merry dance that has been going on for years think when they realize the connection between the Colonist, the government and the noble knights of the road?

The conservative people of Bermuda,
like their brother islanders in Prince Edward Island, are down on motor cars. Their motto is "Safety First," whatever the part of the world which thinks itself progressive may say. Consequently there are no cars in the little paradise of the Atlantic. Probably they are not needed, there being no occasion for anybody to be in a hurry.
We are not quite so slumberously inclined on Vancouver Island, notwithstanding the reputation Victoria has for doing whatever she has to do in a leisurely manner. By the look of things at present, horses soon will be a curiosity on our streets.

Our esteemed fellow-subjects from India's coral strand are diligently circulating seditious leaflets, printed in San Francisco, throughout the city. It is not quite clear what they hope to gain by that. They hardly can expect to attract many adherents here for their cause. But as the circulars are printed in English, and as the "natives" doubtless are familiar with the propaganda, the agitators must believe the allegations being placed in circulation will gain them sympathizers, if not active supporters, in the community.

The Vancouver Province says one of the Oriental witnesses in the Hindu investigation refused to take the oath
except on holy water from the Ganges.
If that is the case, think of the possible length to which the proceedings
may be drawn out, unless of course
the pilgrims on board the Komagata have brought a liberal supply of the needful with them.

Exemption for Esquimalt.—Chief Forester MacMillan announced that the forestry board has decided to exempt the district of Esquimalt from the requirement under the Forest Fires act of the issue of permits before fires can be started. Jacob, of this city. Colonel Jacob belongs to a family that has done good service in India, and he himself served for thirty-five years in the Bombay army, chiefly as director of military education. He has for half a century been a noted Sanscrit student, possesses an intimate knowledge of Sanscrit philosophy, and has published several works on the subject.

Body is Not Identified.—A body having been taken from the Columbia river near Revelstoke some days ago Isaac Somers, of Saanich, wrote to Chief Constable Parry, of that city, suggesting that the remains be examined for identification. Mr. Somers thought it possible that the body might be that of his son, Fred J. Somers, who was drowned at the big bend of the Columbia three years ago. Chief Parry decided, from the description given by Mr. Somers, that the body was not that of his son and has so informed him.

Interfered With Pound-keeper.—Three Hindus were summoned to appear in the Saanich police court to-day on charges of interfering with a peace officer while driving cattle to the pound in that municipality. As there were other cases to take up the time of the court well into the afternoon the court was adjourned until Friday. These are the first cases under the newly-drafted pound by-law in Saanich, which was strengthened in several particulars to meet circumstances in that district. C. H. Pitts is defending the cases.

PROFITS BETTER THAN EVER

A large safety razor concern which has been advertising in the newspapers finds that the first quarter of 1914 shows larger sales and better profits than ever.

Considering the fact that this period was not one of booming business the showing is the more remarkable. Long experience has taught the owners of this razor that they can get better results at less cost in the newspaper than through any other medium.

Dealers are always glad to push these articles because the advertising in the papers creates a definite demand.

ASSAULTED A HINDU.

Frank Comeau Fined Fifteen Dollars for Striking an Oriental Walking Along the Street.

Frank Comeau was charged in police court to-day with having assaulted a Hindu named Dina Singh on Douglas street late Saturday night.

The complainant said he was proceeding peacefully along the street when he was hailed by the defendant and struck by him on the side of the head.

License Inspector Scott stated he had seen the Hindu in front of the police station with his face covered with blood, and was taken by him to the cabin where he said the accused had come. This was 1812 Douglas street. There Comeau was identified by the Hindu, but denied that he had struck him.

Comeau's story was that the complainant and another Hindu had accosted him as he was on his way home, the former accusing him of having assaulted his brother. He had followed this up with a blow and defendant had then knocked him down. He admitted that he had been before the court before for the assault on the Hindu named Dina Singh, as his brother, and asserted that he had been since followed by several Hindus for purposes of vengeance.

A fine of fifteen dollars was imposed.

SOLD LIQUOR TO INDIAN.

An Old Offender, With Nine Months Against Him Already, Goes to Jail for Half a Year.

In the course of looking for a man who had assaulted a Hindu, License Inspector Scott, late on Saturday night, ran across another branch of the law, which came directly within the scope of his own duties.

As a result Charles Benson appeared in the police court dock to-day on a charge of having supplied liquor to an Indian woman, Christina, of the South Saanich reserve. He did not remember anything about it, he said.

The woman told of getting liquor from Benson on Friday and again on Saturday, and incidentally, and inadvertently, showed that this was a practice when she said "We always get three bottles (of beer) for fifty cents."

Inspector Scott identified a dozen quart bottles of beer which he had found in the house. The accused was lying on his bed in a state of insensibility. Benson has been in jail three times already for the same class of offence, for terms of two, three and four months. This time he went up for six months.

CHIEF ROBERT CHOSEN.

Vacancy in Chiefship of Songhees Band of Indians is Now Filled By Well-Known Member.

As has been expected since Chief Michael Cooper gave up the chiefship of the Songhees band of Indians, William Robert has been elected to that position.

Chief Robert was the unanimous choice of the band, and the selection has met with the approval of the department of Indian affairs, expressed through the Indian agent for the Cowichan agency, W. R. Robertson, under whose jurisdiction this band comes. The new head has been acting as chief since the resignation of Chief Cooper and had acted on previous occasions during absence of the chief.

The new chief is a prominent member of the band and is well known to many of the white residents of the city as a progressive and intelligent Indian. He will have associated with him in the government of the band Charley Karmia and James Loie, who were elected as councillors at the same time he was chosen chief.

Little Girl Injured.—A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingram, Florence street, walked out into the roadway at the intersection of Government and Yates streets yesterday afternoon in front of the motor car driven by M. P. Goodson. She was knocked down and the side of her face bruised. Mr. Goodson took the child and her parents to the Jubilee hospital, where she was treated. The car was travelling at a very slow rate at the time the child was struck.

When Is a Camp Not a Camp?

That's easy; a camp is not a camp when it is without a Columbia. During the past few years, the Columbia has revolutionized the idea of camp comfort. It is not enough now-a-days merely to have a comfortable, dry place to sleep, a camp stove that produces enough heat to boil water and that will condescend to make bread at times. It isn't enough to have a banjo or guitar or a lowly mouth organ around the camp fire. The modern camper who knows the possibilities of the Columbia wants to have "all the music of all the world" at his call in camp as well as at home.

When It Has No "Columbia"

a camp is at a disadvantage. The wonderful music the Columbia brings adds a new zest to the pleasurable occasions of camp life. And the Columbia is so easy to carry and so easy to operate, it is so hard to put the Columbia out of commission, and its cost is so very reasonable that really there is no good reason at all why every camp around Victoria should not have the ideal camp pal, the Columbia, in its camp-fire circle this summer. The Columbia comes in many different models and at various prices, all reasonable. We are in a position to sell it on the most unusually easy terms. You pay just a little bit down and we will arrange the balance any way that suits you best.

"THE MASK OF AFFLICTION"

Two-Reel Eclair Drama; a Mining Story of Intense Pathos; at the Romano Theatre To-day and To-morrow

John Harrison, manager of the San Esteban Mines, a cold blooded scheming man converts the fortune of his ward, who is in love with Peter Marshall, the mine engineer.

Harrison faces financial ruin. He has forbidden Claudia to meet Marshall, but the two have found a retreat in a hermit's cave. The manager schemes to marry Claudia and get the money.

He is informed that there is fire-damp in one of the galleries. He sends Marshall to investigate the fire-damp and the young man finds a dying man, over whom he places his coat. Marshall is rendered unconscious by an explosion. A burned body of a man is brought to the surface and Harrison finding Marshall's wallet in the dead man's coat identifies him as the engineer. However, Marshall, has had a miraculous escape as the hermit's cave communicated with the mine by deserted galleries and the old man dragged Marshall to his retreat—his face, burned beyond recognition. Claudia struck by the blow clings lovingly to the memory of Marshall, but is menaced by Harrison. One day Claudia comes to the hermit's cave where she faints. Peter replaces the worn bunch of forget-me-nots which she holds in her hand with fresh flowers and creeps away. His face has begun to heal and the old man tells him he must not well to punish Harrison. The latter has decided to poison Claudia and is pouring the stuff into her cup when Peter, who has come to put fresh flowers on his sweetheart's window, sees him. Ripping off the mask Peter stands forth with his face greatly healed and as Harrison is led away Peter clasps Claudia in his arms.

The balance of the programme is equally interesting including "Gitty's Riot" a screamingly funny comedy, featuring that star of all comedians, Ford Sterling. Mr. Julian Hayward will be heard in new selections on the piano and organ.

RIFLEMEN TO MEET

Annual Gathering of B. C. Rifle Association Will Take Place at Richmond Range.

The city loses the annual meeting of the British Columbia Rifle association this year because the new ranges on the peninsula are not ready for operation. At the annual business meeting of the association last summer it was resolved to come to Victoria this year if the targets were ready at the Saanich range, but when the preliminary meeting was held to arrange the details of the coming contests, which begin on July 22, and last four days, local representatives could hold out no hope of the range being ready.

Therefore the contest will again be shot off at the Richmond range, Vancouver, although it is thoroughly unsuited, being too small for the large number of riflemen who enter for the various competitions from all over the province. As a matter of fact tenders are now invited, to be in by July 13, for the new range in Vancouver.

A considerable increase is expected in the number of competitors from Victoria this year, owing to the great advance in militia matters here since the last gathering at Richmond. Considerable activity continues at Clover Point range in preparation for the coming contests. From the successful riflemen are chosen the British Columbia team for the national competition.

Wilson Barrett used to tell an amusing story against himself. At a time when he had a lot of workmen redecorating his private residence, thinking to give them a treat, he asked if, after work one evening, they would like to have seats to go and see him play in "The Lights of London," at the Princess's theatre. They said they didn't mind if they did, and being complimentary tickets, all went on a Saturday night to see their employer's performance. At the end of the week Barrett's eye caught sight of this item against each workman's name on the pay-sheet: "Saturday night. Four hours overtime at Princess's theatre—8s."

Australia has more places of public worship in proportion to population than any other country.

AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKE
AND WIFE KILLED BY ASSASSIN ON STREET

that each of the bullets inflicted a mortal wound.

For an instant after the attack, Field Marshal Potiorek thought the archduke and the duchess, seated opposite him, had again escaped. Neither the archduke nor the duchess uttered a sound, but a moment afterward it was seen that they had been hit.

Lieut.-Colonel Erik Maritz, who had been wounded by the bomb in the first attack, was to-day pronounced out of danger, while the injury sustained by Count von Boos-Waldeck is said to be insignificant.

The Croatian students here to-day made several attempts to punish the Serbs, but the troops were called in and maintained order.

Gabrinovic, it was learned to-day, had been expelled from Sarajevo two years ago, but had been recently permitted to return through the intervention of a Socialist member of the Bosnian Diet.

Some Serbian students here, when they heard the news of the assassination, shouted, "Thank God, we need not do it ourselves."

They were arrested as accomplices of the assassins.

Vienna, June 29.—The opinion has gained ground in authoritative circles here that the future of Austria-Hungary now, more than ever depends on the health of the venerable Emperor Francis Joseph.

It was pointed out in high political circles that if the emperor is permitted to reign only a few years more everything may continue as usual, and Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death will have little lasting material effect on the foreign or domestic affairs of the dual monarchy.

It was argued that should a youthful and inexperienced ruler like the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, son of the late Archduke Otto, suddenly be called upon to take the reins of government, a period of anxiety might supervene.

The young archduke and his wife, who was Princess Zita of Parma, are both extremely popular among all classes of society, and everybody from the emperor down is said to be prepared to do his utmost to help them in every way to rise to the responsible position so suddenly thrust on them.

The suggestion was put forward in some quarters that Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death is likely to cause a political upheaval, but it is said to have little real foundation, as the old emperor has kept the reins of government in his own hands, delegating as little power as possible to his late nephew.

Much mystery always has existed in Austria-Hungary regarding the late heir's real political claims. He was credited with being an ardent Catholic and the chief supporter of the powerful Christian Socialist or anti-Semitic party in Austria.

It was known he was not in sympathy with the Magyar regime in Hungary, nor was he as pro-German in Austria as some of the German Nationalist factions desired him to be. The late archduke, it is believed, really favored some form of three-fold system for the future government of the Austro-Hungarian empire to take the place of the present dual regime of Germans in Austria and Magyars in Hungary. It is said he desired to see the great Slavic population in the two halves of the empire and forming a very powerful proportion of the inhabitants, given some definite share in the government of the country. Indeed, it is declared he made clear promises in that direction to certain leaders of the Slav parties a few months ago.

His death removes all these possibilities and will, it is understood, prove a serious blow to the dominant power and to the anti-Semites. As far as the new heir-presumptive is concerned, his political opponents may almost be said to be non-existent. In foreign policy, it is said to be quite certain that the Archduke Charles Francis Joseph will have a strong supporter in Germany and of the Triple Alliance. The influence of his uncle, the king of Bavaria and Saxony, and the future of the king of Württemberg will, it is argued, certainly keep him attached to the German empire.

It is generally thought that if the young archduke be given a fair chance he is likely to prove a second Emperor Francis Joseph and that under his future reign, affairs in Austria and Hungary, both foreign and domestic, will pursue the same course as during the present reign. The new heir-presumptive is known to be a devout Catholic, but like the old emperor, he does not make his religion an affair of politics.

Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, although he has no experience in statecraft, possesses the happy faculty of getting on well with everybody. In view of the exalted position he was one day expected to occupy, the new heir-presumptive was given a sound and careful education. After his preliminary schooling he attended classes at the Benedictine monks, who came originally from Scotland and which is the most liberal Catholic seminary in Austria. Here the young archduke mingled freely with the sons of professional and business men, who form the best and most solid class in the Vienna community. He underwent his examinations in public at that school, and the tests were, at the emperor's wish, made more severe for him than for the ordinary scholars because, as his majesty said, so much depended on him.

In addition to his school education, the archduke was thoroughly coached by private tutors at home, and his education in languages has been especially looked after.

The archduke's wife, Princess Zita, also is an excellent linguist. Since her marriage she has learned the Hungarian language at the special wish of the emperor, who presented her with the Hungarian library of the late Empress Elizabeth.

FRANCIS JOSEPH RETURNS FROM SUMMER RESIDENCE
ON LEARNING OF TRAGEDY

London, June 29.—The sympathy not only of the rulers, but of the people of Europe has been expressed to the aged Emperor Francis Joseph, whose much needed rest at his summer residence at Ischl has been broken by the crime. He left Ischl, where he was recuperating from his recent severe illness, for Vienna to-day. The imperial train stopped at Arstetten, where the emperor was joined by Archduke Francis Salvador and by his only daughter, the Archduchess Maria Valeria.

WILSON DECLINES TO GIVE BUTTE TROOPS

Two Thousand Five Hundred Sign
Roll of New Union at Copper Mining Centre.

Washington, June 29.—President Wilson will take no action in the strike situation at Butte, Mont., pending further developments. Federal troops will not be moved from Vancouver, Wash., barracks to Fort Missoula to be in readiness in case of trouble, for the present.

Butte, Mont., June 29.—It was announced to-day that 2,532 men had signed the rolls of the new union which is to be free from jurisdiction of the Western Federation of Miners. The dynamiting of the safe of the union destroyed the records and membership roll, and it will be necessary for men who still cling to the Butte local of the Western Federation of Miners to sign a new membership card. The union lost its seal and cards in the dynamiting, and since has received a new supply.

Serious charges that the police have been inactive and that Butte property is unprotected have been made. Up to last Thursday night no arrest for rioting had been made. At the meeting of the Silver Bow trades and labor council held Sunday night, it was decided not to take action in the fight until after the conference called by the president, Charles Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, has announced its decision.

SOUTH AFRICAN FARMERS ARE TO TOUR CONTINENT

London, June 29.—An extensive tour of Canada and the United States has been arranged for a party of fifty-five South African farmers, recently arrived here under the leadership of Johannes Adriaan Naser, member of the parliament of the Union of South Africa. Some of the farmers intend to remain in the United States for a time to study fruit farming in California.

DOMINICAN SITUATION
MUDDLED, SAYS WILSON

Washington, June 29.—"Very muddled" was the characterization applied to the Santo Dominican situation to-day by President Wilson. He said that it was difficult to know just what to do in the Dominican republic, because of the many elements entering into the situation. He had received word of the firing by an American gunboat to stop a bombardment of the federal troops, but did not disclose what he expects to do further.

EXPLOSION IN MINE
CLAIMS ONE VICTIM

Trinidad, Colo., June 29.—The wrecked shaft of the Royal mine near Aguilar, yielded to-day the body of Matt Schmitz, a shot-firer, 40 years old, sole victim of an explosion last night. That Schmitz was the only person in the mine at the time of the explosion was the statement of mine officials. The cause of the explosion is unknown. The Royal mine employs about 30 men and has been operating as a non-union mine.

LAURENCE IRVING'S ESTATE.

London, June 29.—The court to-day granted H. B. Irving leave to presume that his brother Laurence is dead. The deceased's estate amounted to about £1,000 and his will bequeathed it to his wife. The court ordered that her death also should be presumed.

£2,000,000 TO WIFE.

An American shopgirl who married a millionaire has just come into a fortune of £2,000,000. She is Mrs. Frances Skinner, of Boston, who was formerly engaged in a large Boston department store.

Quite romantic was her marriage to Mr. Skinner, a nephew of Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, well known in New York as possessing the finest collection of paintings and private art galleries in the world.

Mrs. Skinner or Miss Carr, as she was then, was on a holiday at Marblehead with some girl friends, and as they were admiring Mrs. Skinner's yacht the owner invited them on board. The acquaintance thus began resulted in marriage. Mr. Skinner died on the liner Caronia on her last voyage from England, and he left his entire fortune of £2,000,000 to his wife.

"Well, I'll tell you what I once did in a day," said little Bulke, with his back to the clubhouse fire. "I had an appointment with a man at 8 o'clock in the morning. He turned up and we started at once. 'We played solidly until 1 o'clock, then had lunch. Commenced again at a quarter to two, and played on till five. We had tea, and were off again at six, playing until 8.30. That was twelve hours, 'hard golf.' There was silence for a minute (the Manchester Guardian tells the story) whilst Bulke regained his breath. Then a voice from the depths of an armchair spoke, 'And did you finish the round by that time?'"

Usually a sale of this sort would call for a whole newspaper page with screaming headlines, elaborate pictures, and price marks so tall you couldn't jump over them. But let's see if we can't get together on a common basis. The idea is simple enough. This is the time of year just before the arrival of Fall goods—we propose to clean up. Not leisurely. BEES HOME FOR SERIES WITH TACOMA

TEAM BROKE EVEN ON THE ROAD TRIP

Tigers Greatly Strengthened for Local Games; New Twirler Coming to Victoria; McGinnity and Umpire

Having won four out of eight games played on the road, Bert Delmas brought his Bees home on the noon boat from Spokane, where the locals succeeded in winning three out of the seven battle staged with the Lynches. Victoria was beaten on Saturday 2 to 0, but split even on yesterday's double-header. Vancouver and Tacoma also split even, so that the Bees are still a few points above the Tigers. Portland and Seattle each won a game.

Owner Kingham stated that Bobby Steele had been selected to twirl today's game, while Narveson is due to work to-morrow afternoon, when the game is called for 3.30. There will be two games on Wednesday, the morning game at 10.30 and the second fixture at 3.30 p.m. The team plays here until Friday, when it leaves on the afternoon boat for Tacoma, finishing out the week with the Tigers.

McGinnity has greatly strengthened the team that he brings this time. The Iron Man will now only take his turn in the box, Russ Hall, the well-known Northwestern league magnate, having charge of the club. The Tacoma club has Bender, a new centre-fielder; Stoke in left field, Boeckel at second, Leggett on first, Stephens a new backstop, and a lot of new twirlers including Andara, Angerer and Matt Hynes. Tony Brottem, the former Victoria catcher, is also with the Bees; Victoria has a chance to widen the breach that separates the locals from the Tacoma club, and at the same time to catch up with the Portland team. Delmas and his team made an excellent showing on the road, holding the Spokane team to four wins out of seven games. The showing of Kelly and Scanlon with the willow was exceptionally promising and Victorians can see only a first division berth for the locals with the team hitting as

now. Owner Kingham states that the twirling staff will be bolstered up if the slab artists do not tighten up. He is also on the trail of another slugging outfielder.

Joe McGinnity is probably due for another suspension from Fielder Jones for his actions on Saturday. Umpire Wheeler objected to McGinnity's remarks from the bench, and he ordered the retiring Tiger chief off the lot. McGinnity, who was sitting on the bench, refused to budge. Wheeler pulled his watch and the "Iron Man" grabbed a handful of balls from the club satchel and began firing them at Wheeler's shins. Some one threw a lot of dirt in Wheeler's face and another player threw a ball at him that struck him on the protector. Wheeler jumped into the pit and tried to pull McGinnity off his seat, but Joe stuck there. Then the umpire, seeing the crowd was in an angry mood, and to avoid a free-for-all fight, ordered the game to proceed. A policeman escorted the umpire off the grounds when the crowd became threatening.

One cannot object to McGinnity becoming annoyed at Wheeler, after the exhibition that the latter gave here a week ago, but baseball must be kept clean at all costs and the Iron Man will not be allowed to get away with such tactics.

Portland, Ore., June 29.—Pitcher Roy Brown was sold by the Portland Northwestern team to the Cedar Rapids, Ia., team of the Central association.

CUP BACK HOME.

London, Eng., June 29.—The polo cup came back to English soil Saturday night with Lord Wimborne and the British team, arriving on the Olympic. For a short time the cup was conspicuous among piles of baggage at the Paddington station, but later a valet conveyed it to Lord Wimborne's house, where eager friends welcomed him.

After the Movies nothing more delightful than a little meal at the Kaiserhof Cafe.

VICTORIA GOLFER

WON LADIES' TITLE

Miss Pooley's Fine Achievement; Finals of Northwestern Tourney at Seattle

Seattle, June 29.—Jack Neville, of San Francisco, defeated H. Chandler Egan, of Medford, Ore., by 5 and 4 on the links of the Seattle Golf club Saturday and won the title of Pacific Northwest amateur champion. The victory is tantamount to a Pacific coast title, inasmuch as practically every golfer of note from Los Angeles to Vancouver, B. C., was present at the week's annual meeting here.

Miss Violet Pooley, of Victoria, former British women finalist in the Canadian championship last year, defeated Mrs. A. V. Macan, also of Victoria, for the women's title. George Turnbull, professional at the Waverly Golf club, Portland, Ore., was returned open winner.

Seattle's chief satisfaction was found in the fact that Paul Ford, its 19-year-old golfing marvel, was not bowled over until the semi-final round, where he met Chandler Egan and his sister, Miss Agnes Ford, who, like her brother, was taking part in her first tournament, reached the semi-finals stage in the women's championship affair. Miss Pooley, the winner, forced her aside.

The brilliant execution of shots made them all seem so easy for Neville that when he set a new record for the links at 69, in the morning round, all the spectators remarked that they had seen it coming. In the afternoon round the match ended at the fourteenth green. Had Neville finished with the same score the last four holes he had applied in the morning he would have had a round of 72, or a total of 141 strokes for the thirty-six holes. The par of the course is 74, and there is no harder par to beat on this entire coast than this one.

In the match of Miss Pooley and Mrs. Macan the former player, known of the golfers of two continents, established beyond any question of doubt her class as a golfer of her sex in the Northwest; and, it is admitted by the Californians, that they have nothing in the Southland that they would give a chance with her.

In meeting Mrs. Macan, she was playing an opponent who took so kindly to the Seattle links that she brought up a game beyond even her own expectations. Her defeat of Mrs. W. H. Ricardo in the semi-finals of the day before had emphasized this. When she met Miss Pooley, however, she not only met a veteran in the tournament game, but one who has played beautiful golf on the local course during her present visit.

Their match was all square at the seventh hole but then Miss Pooley went out in front and never gave her opponent a chance to win the coveted championship.

Miss Violet Pooley won eight trophies in addition to the Pacific Northwest ladies' championship. A telegram from her read: "Won eight cups and medals, championship, best qualifying score, longest drive, best average approaching, ladies' foursomes and best gross score in singles." Miss Pooley is expected to return to-morrow morning.

A number of the California golfers came over to Victoria yesterday and in the afternoon a team-match of eight Victoria golfers vs. eight of the Americans was played, the victoria team winning by two matches. The contest drew a large gallery, the golf being of an exceptionally high standard.

The Cares of Business are forgotten in the hospitable atmosphere of the Kaiserhof Cafe.

CROWD DISGUSTED

WITH PARIS FIGHT

Johnson Idled for Twenty Rounds; Barrieau Won at Duncan

Paris, June 29.—Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion pugilist, retained his title here on Saturday in a 20-round bout with Frank Moran and gathered another "champion bunco artist of the world."

The cunning negro stalled through 20 rounds of the worst fighting ever seen in a championship contest against a man who showed neither skill nor punch. When the hippodrome was over, he was richer by probably $100,000, and had not even answered the question the sporting world has asked for months—whether or not he is "all in."

Utterly disgusted the enormous crowd of fight fans who packed the hippodrome to see the alleged mill vented their displeasure throughout the contest with volleys of "boo" and called on the men to fight.

Even the nobility of France and their ladies, who, resplendent in diamonds and ball gowns thronged the big hall, demanded action or their money back.

It was not a fight. It was not even a near-fight. Moran showed absolutely nothing. Johnson was never extended and whether he still can fight a real man is as much of a mystery as ever.

chance from the first blow and Johnson, it is believed, knew it well before he ever got into the ring.

But Johnson draws $35,000 in cash and the rights of the moving pictures, which should be worth at least $30,000. It is openly declared that Fromoter Vienne was merely a figurehead for the crafty negro, who, save for a paltry $5,000 handed over to Moran, will capture the whole remaining profits of the mill.

Not one effective blow was struck by either man in the entire contest, and there was never the suspicion of a jar, much less a knockdown. The spectacle of the world's champion, superior in weight, science, experience and strength, clinging to his smaller antagonist, expressing in every move an appealing glance his yearning for the final tap of the gong—this was Johnson in the last three rounds.

Moran did his best in the eighteenth and nineteenth rounds to gain at least a draw, but his very exertions so tired him as to make his experience in the twentieth round pitiful. He was gone, staggering about the ring like a drunken man and swinging blindly at thin air.

Duncan, B. C., June 29.—Frank Barrieau, of Vancouver, earned a decision over "Cyclone" Scott, of Victoria, in a 15-round boxing bout here Saturday. His superior footwork and a deadly straight left gave the Vancouver boxer an early lead. He was too fast for Scott. The Victorian swung heavily to the jaw several times and recovered some lost ground by persistent forcing in the last few rounds.

Los Angeles, June 29.—Leach Cross and Jimmy Duffy, lightweights, have been matched for a 20-round contest at Vernon arena, the night of July 25, according to announcement yesterday.

AMATEUR BALL.

The C. P. R. Vancouver Baseball club was defeated by the C. P. R. Victoria club 8 to 7 in a fast game played at the Royal grounds Saturday. Woods, for the victors and Dunlop, for Vancouver both pitched good ball. Lee Mong Kow has presented a fine cup, which is on exhibition in Montellus piano store window. The C. P. R. Victoria and Vancouver teams are to play three games for the trophy.

Modern ideas of comfort mean an outside room for $3.50 per week at the Kaiserhof.

CUP DEFENDER WILL NOT RACE THIS WEEK

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 29.—As a result of an accident to the Resolute, the Herreshoff cup candidates did not start in the regatta of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club at Oyster Bay. Late Saturday afternoon the Resolute left under tow of her tender for Bristol, where she will be repaired in time for the first real test of the cup yachts, which will begin off Newport July 7.

With the Resolute out of the running the Vanitie and Defiance were the only starters on Saturday and in a light breeze the Vanitie won by 13 minutes 3 seconds, actual time, and about 8 minutes corrected time.

The withdrawal of the Resolute was caused by the discovery that the bronze cap of her bowsprit had worked loose, which slackened up her bobstay.

Torquay, Eng., June 29.—Shamrock IV., Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America cup, had another successful trial in the channel Saturday. She beat the old Shamrock by 4 minutes 57 seconds, corrected time, over a thirty-mile course, in a brisk breeze.

Vancouver, B. C., June 29.—The Turnengo, the Royal Vancouver Yacht club's challenger for the Lipton cup, is now taking daily trips on Burrard Inlet and is fast getting into shape for the races on July 15 and 17 in Seattle.

GERMANS WITHDRAW FROM TENNIS SERIES

New York, June 29.—The withdrawal of the German tennis team from the 1914 Davis cup international play leaves Australasia easily placed in the upper half of the draw since by defeating Canada the Antipodeans would enter the final round without further opposition. The English team, logical favorites in the lower half, will have to defeat both France and Belgium before securing entrance into the final round to be played at Boston on August 6-8. The Belgian players are not considered as formidable as the French team, which will be composed of Decugis, Gobet, Gernot and Sammesnik. According to present information, Gobet may not be able to play and should the former champion fail to cross the Channel for the cup tie at Folkstone the French chances will receive a severe setback.

EVEN BREAK FOR THE BEES YESTERDAY

Kelly's Homer in Second Game Led to Victory; McHenry Beaten; Pitchers' Battle

Spokane, June 28.—Victoria broke even with the Indians in yesterday's double-header, the local winning the first 3 to 2, while the invaders carried off the first game of the series 7 to 5. Both contests were pitchers' battles, and the result of the series gives Victoria three victories out of the seven games played.

Coveleskie chalked up his second win of the week at the expense of McHenry, the Bees holding the Bees to four hits, while the Indians secured seven clean bingles off McHenry. It was a touch-and-go contest, but the Spokane men managed to crowd their hits into a couple of innings, while Kelly, of Victoria, registered three of his teams' four hits.

Babe Driscoll was hit freely the second game, but he was invincible in the pinches, and the Bees won 7 to 5. The Victoria team regained its batting eye and sent out nine hits, Kelly's homer in the second driving Arlett from the box, Hughes finishing the game, Wilhoit and Calvo had triples to their credit. INCOGNITI EASILY WIN FROM OAK BAY

Tracey Bowls Well; Ackroyd and Paton Form Excellent Partnership

The bowling of Tracey, who took eight wickets for 45 runs in 13 overs, and the partnership of Ackroyd and Paton when the Incogniti came to bat, won the day on Saturday at the University grounds for the Incogniti, who entertained Oak Bay. The visitors made only 88, the principal stands being those of Yeoman and Tunnard, the only two who reached double figures. None of the others made any showing against Tracey's bowling.

Westwood and Freeman divided the trustful honors for Oak Bay. The first fifty for Incogniti came with difficulty, and it was not till Ackroyd was joined by Paton that runs could be added regularly. These two batsmen set out to drive freely to boundary, all their innings each gave chances which should not have been allowed to go to waste. Once getting set, however, they played havoc with the bowling, the former knocking up 27 and the latter 48 before it was decided to declare and give the visitors an opportunity to bat again. Thus only six Incogniti men went to the wicket, Oak Bay made 88 for the loss of six wickets before stumps were drawn.

Several splendid scores figured largely in the win of the civil service eleven over the Victoria B team by 77 runs. G. C. Grant compiled 61 before he was bowled by Coppinger. Duncan and Martin also went into double figures. Speak was high bat for the winners with 55. The civil service batsmen scored 224, better, losing their first wicket for a single run.

Albions were in top form, and they had little difficulty in winning from the navy by 114 runs. The winners had two scores over the half century, while T. Darke, with 69, topped both teams. Lifton, Calloway, Johnson and Gregson, batted in fine style for the Albion club.

Mens' Own scored the easiest win of the day over the Oak Bay cricketers when they defeated the latter by several wickets. W. Erickson and E. R. Lock, were high batsmen.

BATTING AVERAGES

It is impossible to judge from the weekly averages for the Northwest league, just issued by Newton Colver, the splendid work that the Bees have been doing of late. The figures are pushing Frisk hard for the leadership, with Calvo right on his toes. Such notable hitters as Swain, Wilhoit and Joe Wagner are dropped out of the 300 mark. W. Butler is the leading run getter and Wagner and Wurfl are the best base stealers.

BRAMPTON TRIUMPHS OVER THE V.A.C. TEAM

Mann Cup May Go East This Season; Nationals Lead Big Four Clubs

Vancouver, June 28.—Brampton, champions of the Ontario Lacrosse association, captured the first of the two games for the amateur championship of Canada by 5 goals to 4 against the V. A. C. at Athletic park Saturday. It was an exciting game, with Brampton gaining the lead in the last quarter, the V. A. C. succeeding in tying up the score only for Brampton to step in front again. Three thousand people watched the game, the first crowd of any size at a lacrosse match this season—and they thoroughly enjoyed play which had many number of typical cup-tie features. Daring rushes, fast foot-work and reliable stick handling were the characteristics of the Brampton team, certainly the best team that has come out of the east since the Mann cup arrived on the coast. Unless the V. A. C. can find a good deal of additional speed in the field, the Mann cup will shift its moorings the next game. Prior to the match, officials of the Vancouver A. C. team filed a protest with Referee Lester Patrick on the grounds that the Mann cup trustees had no authority to refuse permission to Kendall to play; that Joe Lally had previously announced that all amateurs were eligible to play; and that Kendall had been pronounced an amateur by the B. C. amateur officials.

President W. Clark of the V. A. C. also despatched another wire to Joe Lally asking for a reply to the wires forwarded the previous day, in which the Amateur Union's decision was announced. Lally failed to acknowledge receipt of any messages, and President Clark demands that courtesy be shown the coast fans.

At a conference of officials of both clubs it was decided to play the final match next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The teams:

Brampton—Campbell, Williams, Muls, Beacham, Warre, Blain, Stevens, G. Sproule, Mara, H. Sproule, Davis and Charters.

V. A. C.—Davis, Campbell, Mason, Carter, Painter, McKee, Dodge, J. Painter, Gilmour, R. Knight, Feedham and A. Wright.

Spares: Brampton—Anderson, Roberts and Ashley. Vancouver—Gilmour, Adams, Wilson and Davidson.

The officials for the game were: Referee, Lester Patrick.

Nationals won the 1914 junior lacrosse championship of Victoria Saturday by defeating the Young Canadians 7 to 2 in a match played on the Beacon Hill grounds.

NEW LADIES' TENNIS CHAMPION OF SOUTH

San Jose, Cal., June 28.—Mrs. H. A. Niemeyer is the new coast champion in women's singles. In a brilliant three-set match features by long rallies, desperate driving and fierce exchanges of volleys, Miss Helen Baker went down to defeat here Saturday by a score of 7-5, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. It was one of the finest displays of women's tennis ever seen on a California court and drew a large gallery. It was a contest of a driving game against overhanded ability and the driving game won.

Clarence Griffin and William Johnston won the men's doubles from Roland Robert and Van Dyke John in an easy fashion, the score being 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

Entries for the handicap tournament to be held on the Victoria Lawn Tennis club courts starting July 1, closed Saturday evening. Forty-one entries were received for the men's singles; 16 for the ladies' singles; 22 for the mixed doubles; 18 for the men's doubles and 9 for the ladies' doubles.

A Heart-to-Heart Talk With Our Patrons

Those of you who are old friends of ours will recognize the fact that it is not so much our aim to carry a very large stock as an exclusive one. It is our policy to procure and offer our patrons the very best of the newest fashions. To accomplish this, it has been necessary for us to establish exceptionally good buying connections. Retaining a head buyer of notable ability, whose facilities for maintaining constant touch with the great producing centres of the world are second to none, we seek to secure our friends advance models, carefully selected from the best creations the market affords.

To accomplish our purpose, it is essential that we maintain our stock as nearly as possible on an even basis, season in and season out. During July, we must make way for new arrivals. This is the reason for the unusual opportunities that will be offered here during the coming month. Elsewhere among the collective advertising relating to July sales among the retail trade of Victoria, detailed reference is made to our plans for July.

We would lay particular emphasis on the fact that owing to our policy of advance buying, the stock we are offering at reduced values during the next month is not, in any sense of the term, old stock; on the other hand, it is, without exception, in the height of fashion at the present time.

For instance, we may say that the exclusive models in gowns received by us every week from our European buyer will be included in the less-price offerings for July. These beautiful creations will be sold at reductions of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. off their regular values. The reductions will be general and will apply to every article in our fresh, up-to-date stock.

Both old friends and new will be welcomed during July, and we can promise you all values that will delight your heart.

Misses Nellie and Minnie Coulter, of Santa Rosa, who registered at the Empress hotel this morning, are among the party of California teachers on the way to the convention at St. Paul.

J. J. Mahony, W. J. Sloan, H. W. Harrison and K. J. McLeod are members of a deputation from New Westminster which came over this morning to see the government. They registered at the Dominion hotel.

Dr. R. L. Fraser, Mrs. Fraser, Miss Fraser and Master Allan Fraser left this morning by the North Coast Limited to take the S. S. St. Paul to England and other European ports, where they will visit for four months.

Secretary George Sangster, of the B. C. Agricultural Association, is attending the Calgary exhibition this week. He will make an effort to induce prominent stockmen on the prairies to visit the Dominion exhibition here in the fall. He left for the east on Saturday.

J. Edward Bird, W. B. A. Ritchie, K. C., and W. H. D. Laidner, prominent Vancouver members of the legal profession, are staying at the Empress hotel while in the city engaged in the Hindu immigration case before the court of appeal.

J. L. Parker, a mining engineer formerly resident in this city, just recently left St. Eugene hospital, near Cranbrook, where he was confined for nearly a month with a serious attack of pneumonia. He is now back at his home in Alberta.

At "Breadalbane" on Saturday afternoon last Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of James Douglas Lawrence, of Victoria, and Miss Margaret Minnie Collins, of Vancouver. At the close of their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence will make their home in Victoria.

A quiet wedding took place at Centennial church last Saturday morning when Howard Chapman and Miss Bessie May Fielding were united in marriage. Rev. Thomas Green performing the ceremony. The bride, who wore her traveling suit, was attended by Miss Catherine Cannon, and the best man was Henry Fielding. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Chapman left for Port Angeles, where they will make their future home.

A pretty event took place at 619 Dundas street last Wednesday evening when Charles Cousins, a brother of Mrs. Harry Reid at whose house the ceremony was solemnized, was united in marriage to Miss Kate Eleanor Simpson, Rev. Thomas Green performing the rite. Only the immediate family friends were present. The bride was very becomingly dressed in a graceful gown of old gold, and was attended by Miss Lucy Cousins, the bridegroom's sister, who wore a pretty frock of blue, while two tiny flower girls were also in attendance. Len Cousins, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The house was prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion, and later in the evening the entire party sat down to a sumptuous supper. Mr. and Mrs. Cousins leaving later for Vancouver and a tour of the Sound cities. On their return they will take up their residence at their new home on Emma street.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS

Father Bernard Vaughan, addressing the debating circle of the Aldwych club the other night on the question, "Should religion be advertised?" said that, personally, he belonged to the oldest advertising firm in religion. On one occasion he was present at a banquet given by an insurance company in New York. He was the second of a long list of speakers, and he announced to the audience, "I presume it is because I belong to the oldest life insurance company in the world that they thought I had a right to stand up at once. I am the only agent for that institution at present before you, and I am prepared to do business."

John Henry was keeping company with Myrtle Marie, and when the father of the latter returned from the office one evening he was timidly approached by his pretty daughter, "Papa," said the fair one, "did John Henry call on you this morning?" "Yes," answered the paternal one, "but I couldn't make out much of what he said." "Couldn't make out what he said?" returned Myrtle Marie, wondering. "What do you mean?" "As near as I could understand," explained papa, "he said he wanted to marry me; that you had enough money to support him, and that we had always loved each other, so I told him to go home and write it out in plain English."

Mr. Danckwerts, K. C., who died the other day, did not hold the record for weight and size at the bar. Two barristers, the brothers Bullen, who were known in the law courts as Gog and Magog, were bigger men physically. It is told of one of them that when a certain firm, some years ago, wanted to go to Peshawar, he made an order. The manager viewed his proportions with dismay, and declined to take on the contract. A few customers like you would ruin us," he said. However, Mr. Bullen pointed out what a "big" advt. the firm could get through him, and promised to send his friends there. He got the trousers, and the next day sent his brother, who was more bulky than himself.

The Allahabad Pioneer tells a good story of the introduction of motor-lorries into Afghanistan. The Amir, it is stated, called a special Durbar to discuss the formation of a motor-lorry company, of which he would be managing director, and pointed out what an impetus to trade a motor service would be. At present, said his majesty, a valuable market for fruit, etc., was lost through the length of the journey to Peshawar. A motor-lorry would cover the distance in a couple of days, and the return for the expenditure would be immediate. As managing director, his majesty would pay half the cost of the lorries, and the Durbar was unanimously approved, and no opposition was raised to a proviso by the Amir that the lorries should be available whenever the court was moving. Ten motor-lorries were bought, and the durbarists, it is said, are still wondering when they will be free from the requirement of the court and will be available to carry produce to Peshawar.

A good theatrical story was told by Jerome K. Jerome the other night at the O. P. Club dinner to dramatic authors. "I spoke to an eminent producer not long ago," he said, "about a play a young friend of mine had sent to him. He remembered it. 'Ah, yes,' he said, 'not at all bad. There's an idea in it.' Later on it was produced, and after the show I went behind, 'Well,' said the eminent producer, 'What did you think of it?' 'Oh, all right!' I said. 'It seems all correct. But what about that idea?' He didn't seem to understand. 'The idea?' I reminded him. 'You said there was an idea in it.' He remembered then. 'Ah, yes,' he said. 'Yes. We had to cut that out.'"

Much Pain From Kidney Disease

Doctored in Vain Until Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Were Used.

Kidney derangements are often associated with disorders of the liver, bowels, and under these conditions ordinary kidney medicines usually fail to effect cure. It is because of their unique, combined action on the liver, kidney and bowels that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so generally successful, even in the most complicated cases.

Mr. Emmanuel Bernard, farmer, St. Paul's, Kent county, N. B., writes: "About eighteen years ago my wife was had with kidney disease, and suffered greatly from headaches, pains in bowels and stomach, and her heart was affected. For a year she was treated by her doctor, with no apparent benefit. She then used five boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with most satisfactory results. This gave us such a good opinion of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills that we always keep them in the house to be used for all derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels."

IDEAL YOUNG MEN.

Sermon Preached Last Evening By Rev. J. B. Warnicker on What Are Best Characteristics.

In his sermon last evening at the Dominion theatre (First Baptist church), Rev. J. B. Warnicker enumerated some of "The Modern Young Man's" conceptions of the Ideal Young Man, taking as his text 1 Samuel, 9, 21: "Saul, a choice young man."

After giving an exposition on the life of Saul, Mr. Warnicker proceeded to the more immediate and modern subject, by hazarding, first, the kind of men that the modern girl does not like. These men might be defined as: (1) the flashy; (2) the loafer; (3) the conceited; (4) the atheist; (5) the drinker. Against these he would set up a list of the qualities that were generally admired in men: Courtesy, constancy, education, health of body and mind, interest in others, ambition, and righteous indignation. Jesus Christ, he concluded, was the ideal man and possessed the qualities which were the essence of the noblest manhood in the ideal of all nations and peoples and amongst all religions.

Next Sunday Mr. Warnicker will preach at the same time and place on "The Modern Young Man's Idea of the Ideal Young Woman."

Ridicule often parries resentment, but resentment never yet parried ridicule.—Lander.

TWO HINDUS UP ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Preliminary Hearing of Accusation in Connection With Cheque Transaction

A somewhat involved Hindu case was before the police magistrate to-day and occupied his time for the greater part of the morning, being continued in the afternoon. This is only one legal proceeding in a dispute which has been one in the city courts and is now there again in another form.

Ganga Ram and Amar Singh are charged with having conspired to defraud Harnam Singh by means of a cheque. The case had its origin a long time ago and an attempt is said to have been made to sue on the cheque last fall. Another suit is now under way in which the Bank of Vancouver is defendant and one of the accused plaintiff, the allegation being that the bank paid the cheque without its having been endorsed.

E. M. N. Woods, Vancouver, is acting for the private prosecutor in the case and C. H. Pitts, Victoria, is defending the accused men on the criminal charge.

The men said they did not want to be tried by the magistrate, electing for a trial in the higher courts.

O. H. C. Barton, deputy registrar of the county court, produced the official documents in a county court action heard here last September, in which Amar Singh was plaintiff and Harnam Singh was defendant. The action was in respect of a cheque for $300, and a default judgment was given for the plaintiff. This judgment was set aside by Judge Lampman in April on motion of Thornton Fell, K.C., it being proven that the defendant had never been served with any notice of the proceedings. The action has not been proceeded with further. Mr. Barton remembered a cheque being passed up to the judge through his hands.

Lawrence Hanna, a law student in the office of Tait, Brandon & Hall, who were solicitors for Amar Singh in the county court suit, was called to identify an affidavit he made and was asked about the cheque in the case.

After some wrangling between counsel, Mr. Pitts said he had the cheque and would produce it in good time. He did so in cross-examination, explaining that there is an action pending by Amar Singh against the Bank of Vancouver for cashing the cheque without endorsement.

Mr. Woods questioned the witness as to the reason for the plaintiff, which he drew, stating the cause of suit as money loaned and an affidavit which he made recently stating it was "goods sold and supplied and work done for defendant by plaintiffs at the request of defendant." Mr. Hanna explained this as due to a mistake in copying a draft of the affidavit. What was put in was a copy of the affidavit, the original not being found in the docket of documents.

J. S. Brandon, of the legal firm, was called, but as a preliminary he desired the payment of his witness fee. This being a criminal suit and he being in court, the law is that he must give evidence, and on this being called to his mind he gave in gracefully.

Not having been subpoenaed in the case Mr. Brandon was not in a position to answer offhand as to the inception of the case. He remembered that Amar Singh and one of two other Hindus called on him at his home one evening and the former told him that he wanted to collect three hundred dollars from Harnam Singh. There was something said about the money being a loan and cheque was shown to him, but he could not remember why he gave instructions to sue for money loaned instead of on the cheque, except that on looking at the cheque now he saw that it could not be sued upon. Mr. Brandon observed that sometimes Hindus used cheques as receipts, and it might be that he had so considered this at the time.

The cheque is made by Amar Singh in favor of Harnam Singh, but has not been endorsed by the latter. It is for three hundred dollars and is drawn on the Bank of Vancouver. His worship remarked that this would show some indebtedness by Amar Singh to Harnam Singh, but there was no evidence in it of any indebtedness the other way.

The great modern Germany of industrial and scientific efficiency has a different outlook to the Germany of Goethe and Schiller. The difference is that outlook is common to all Europe. To Goethe, the great need was an understanding of the phenomena of the mind, but in modern Europe we think that the great standing need is the material exploitation of the earth.—Mr. Norman.

CHILDREN'S SERVICES

Special Sermon Preached to Young People of Wesley Church; Open Session of Sunday School.

Wesley Methodist church yesterday held its Children's Day services, a large number of young people being present both morning and evening. The profuse decorations of flowers indicated the interest which had been taken in the occasion.

In the morning Rev. S. J. Thompson took as his topic "How the Cedar Grows," pointing out for his young listeners that this tree developed by growth downward, upward, outward, and onward. This was the sort of spiritual development which was to be sought by the child and its teachers. In the afternoon there was an open session of the Sunday school, when about two hundred children were present. Miss Johnson sang a solo, and Miss Clayton and Mrs. Saunders sang a duet, while the primary department of the Sunday school delighted those present with a chorus. A feature of the session was the address given by F. W. Davey, of James Ray Sunday school, who captivated his little hearers with four Scriptural stories in which the names of the chief actors were omitted. At the close of the story the children were asked to name the characters, and the competition in this was keen. Mr. Davey also illustrated, with the use of a magnet and a piece of steel, the attraction which Christ exercises for those who have a like spirit within them.

The evening services were taken charge of by Rev. Mr. Thompson, who spoke on "Abraham's Prayer for Ishmael." He pointed out the duties of parents and the obligations of the church where the welfare of the child was concerned.

A woman sued a railway company for five hundred pounds' damages for the loss of a thumb. The young barrister who represented the defendants opened his speech thus: "Five hundred pounds for the loss of a thumb! Well, gentlemen of the jury, the only justification I can see for so exorbitant a claim is that it was the thumb the lady kept her husband under!"

Ships built of steel are said to be able to carry about 20 per cent. more freight than those made of iron.

WELCOMED VISITING TEACHERS FROM SOUTH

Members of Party on Way to St. Paul See City at Its Best

The teachers of Victoria turned out in force this morning to welcome the visiting California teachers. The visitors are part of a delegation from the south on the way to the national gathering in St. Paul, which will attract educationalists from all over the continent. The opening of the convention takes place next Saturday.

Among the prominent visitors today were A. H. Chamberlain, of San Francisco, secretary of the California Teachers' association; James A. Barr, director of congresses for the Panama Pacific exposition, and Miss Minnie Coulter, president of the California Teachers' association. With them were Miss Doris Barr, Miss Amy Petersberg, Miss Nellie J. Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hester, Mrs. Male Sims, Miss Helen Jacque, Misses Alice Duden, Clara Hoglund, Ida Hock, and Alice McCarthy.

In numbers the visitors were only half those expected by the local teachers, others having been routed through other points to St. Paul. Mr. Barr is accompanying the party in order to endeavor to secure the national educational congress for San Francisco next year. He is expecting large support from western teachers in his effort to obtain the great meeting for the exposition.

The visitors arrived this morning from the south, having come across on the Seattle boat. They breakfasted at the Empress hotel. There they were met at nine o'clock by the reception committee, including Trustee Mrs. Jenkins, C. Elwood Watkins, the board's architect, and most of the principals of the schools, among them being J. N. Campbell, A. A. Campbell, H. Charlesworth, T. W. Hall, H. B. McLean, and Miss M. Williams. F. Andrews, of the High school staff, was also in the reception party. The visitors at once made their way to waiting cars, and left for an automobile trip which took them round the Beach drive, and by way of Oak Bay to the Uplands. Later, while en route to the High school, they caught a glimpse of the new Normal school rising at Mount Tolmie.

The party returned to the Parliament buildings, where Hon. Dr. Young welcomed the visitors on behalf of the government. The minister was assisted by Dr. Alexander Robinson, superintendent of education, and several of the inspectors of schools. The legislative chamber was well filled for the occasion.

After this pleasing function, time was given for an inspection of the buildings before the luncheon, waiting at the Empress steps at the Causeway. conveyed the party to the Gorge. Luncheon was served at the Japanese tea gardens, the local teachers acting as hosts, and after a brief exchange of compliments, during which the visitors thanked the hosts, the party left on the 2:30 boat for Vancouver.

The intention of the party is to make brief stays in the mountains, probably at the lake chalets and at Banff, the plan being to reach St. Paul by Saturday, the opening day of the convention.

The visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the choice they had made of the northern route, as it had enabled them to become acquainted with those connected with education in this city, and to see Victoria on a very delightful day.

PANTAGES VAUDEVILLE.

Two hits are on the bill at Pantages theatre this week, one by the Gallierini Four, the other by Barnes and Barron, Hebrew comedians. The first-named act consists of a man and three children who play cornets, saxophones, violins and accordions. They give the Lucia sextette and the Poet and Peasant and finish with a ragtime ensemble, the little boy's solos on the flute being an outstanding feature. La Tourrette is the lad's principal selection.

Barnes and Barron are like the proverbial highwaymen, one short man and one tall one. Their act, which was successful on the Orpheum circuit, is a humorous creation which will add lightness to the bill.

Little Hipp, the tiny elephant who plays football with the audience, and Napoleon, the educated monk who smokes a pipe, are paying a return visit to this circuit and will be a pleasure to the adults and a delight to the children.

Galloway and Roberts offer black-face crossfire comedy patter and song. The Alpha Troupe of three men and a girl are fine hoop rollers in good style. The picture is a good comedy.

Summer-Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, dust or grease, often freckles, too, it is more sensible to remove such surface than to hide it with cosmetics. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercurized wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome complexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed, gently, gradually, so there's no inconvenience, no detention indoors. Spread the wax lightly over the entire face at bedtime and take it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one ounce of mercurized wax at the drug store, use for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness.

Don't let those summer wrinkles worry you; worry breeds more wrinkles. Erase them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered azolette, 1 oz. dissolved in 1 pt. witch hazel. Used daily for awhile this will be found wonderfully effective.

ON WAY FROM INDIA

Sir Edward French, Chief of Punjab Police, Speaks of Immigration Question.

Sir Edward French, head of the police department in the Punjab, India, is staying in the city for a few days in the course of a tour of America on his way home to England. Sir Edward has been in the police department in India for over ten years, serving both in the Punjab and on the northwest border. It was under his direction that the men who attempted to assassinate Lord Hardinge, viceroy, were run down.

Sir Edward was interested in the Komagata Maru case and stated that whichever way it was settled there was sure to be trouble. In India the men's rejection would be seized upon by agitators and would undoubtedly be material for those who preach sedition. He believed that there would be bloodshed in India eventually, although he did not think the time was at hand yet. Sir Edward is accompanied on his tour by Lady French, and both professed themselves to be charmed with the beauties of Victoria.

Fats Make the Hottest Fire

And as the digestion of food generates body heat, so the more greasy, heavy food you eat, the hotter you are.

One can feel several degrees cooler and more comfortable in summer by selecting proper food.

Grape-Nuts

is made of carefully selected wheat and barley and contains all their nutritive values, including the mineral phosphates, (grown in the grain), that are especially necessary for rebuilding the tissue cells of body and brain.

Grape-Nuts is thoroughly baked (16 to 24 hours) which breaks down the starch cells. Therefore it is easily and quickly digested—generally in about one hour.

If you care to feel cool and fit make Grape-Nuts a part of the summer diet—a delicious part!

HUMAN PROCESSION

LIFE AFTER DEATH.

To the Editor: I feel I must answer
the letter written by your correspondent, Geo. I. Dunn, in Tuesday's Times.
I too, like him, have had several similar experiences.

I cannot agree with him that this subject is little known. Here is the Rochesterian Fellowship, also Theoso-phical Society, and the growing body of the Society for Physical Research, all of whom can and do answer his question.

I feel sure there are those in authority in the church who know these things, but who seem to consider it is not for the general welfare of the people, or, as a clergyman once said to me, "the time is not ripe."
If we knew for a certainty and did not have to rely on faith, that our dead are alive, how many heartaches might be spared. Quite recently I saw a lady almost heartbroken weeping alone in the cemetery exclaiming that "her loved one was gone, I shall never see him again," etc.

The point is this: every one can know
for a certainty that their dear ones
have merely passed from one state only to function in another. If we want gold we must get it, and we do patiently and perseveringly too; just so if we want truth, we must take time and search for it. If your correspondent was in the city last fall he missed
a treat when he did not hear those lectures given by L. W. Rogers in the Friends' hall. The late William Ewart Gladstone, prime of England, when asked "what do you consider the greatest study for one to take up?"
said, "Without a doubt Physical Research." I have books on this subject
I would be pleased to loan to anyone who would be interested.

FIRST THINGS

The first step taken by China in its march toward modern China civilization was the treaty of Tien-tsin, which was signed by the Emperor fifty-six years ago to-day. The heaven-born did not in reality attach his signature
to the memorable document, as that was considered beneath his god-like dignity, but entrusted the task to one Keying Elepo. The Emperor was averse to the treaty, which was wrung from him by force, and afterward asserted that Keying had acted without the authority of his master. The unfortunate statesman was condemned to death by suicide, but fear of British ships and guns caused the Emperor,
after various evasions, to accept the treaty. Under its terms there was to be freedom of trade, toleration of Christianity, and a revised tariff. British ambassadors were to be received at the Chinese court, and the term
—meaning barbarians—was no longer to be applied to Europeans. The Chinese long opposed the acceptance of Occidental civilization, and several rebellions and uprisings had to be suppressed
by the European powers before the Great Dragon finally bowed his hydra-heads in submission. Now that China has at last been awakened, there are many Caucasian statesmen who fervently wish that the dragon had been left alone in its age-long sleep.

It is a miserable thing if we cannot contemplate a sleepy hamlet without thinking of the dire mores of unsound hygiene and false economics in which we are assured it is being engulfed.

SCRAP BOOK

Birthday of Great Newspaper Celebrated by a Bitter War.

London's newspaper war, which has been waged with great fury since the Times reduced its price to a penny
last month, has attracted the attention of the entire world. Never before has Fleet street witnessed such a convulsion. Claims and counter claims as to circulation are being made with all the vehemence of the Arizona Kicker.
It is a war to the death for supremacy
in the penny newspaper field of the world's metropolis. The principal combatants are Lord Northcliffe's Times
and Lord Burnham's Daily Telegraph.
Lady Bathurst's Morning Post is involved to a lesser extent, for the fair journalist appeals largely to readers of her own sex, who are faithful and true and not to be won away from their allegiance.

Fleet street will celebrate to-day the birthday of one of the combatants,
the Daily Telegraph. It was fifty-nine years ago to-day that the first number of that journal issued from the press.
For a few months the Telegraph sold for twopenny, but the year of its birth
had not passed into history when the price was reduced to one penny, or two cents. On this side of the Atlantic the one cent press had made its appearance two decades before, but in England the newspaper stamp tax made such a price impossible. In June of 1855 the tax of one penny on each
copy of a newspaper was abolished,
and a number of cheap papers were founded. They were cheap in every way, however, and most of them soon died. The Daily Telegraph was the first London paper to prove that a really great journal could be produced and sold for a penny the copy. At first the Telegraph was the target for jeers
and sneers, and it was considered little less than a disgrace and a scandal for anybody of social standing to be caught reading it. Read it they did, however, and within a few years the prejudice against the revolutionary pioneer of British penny journalism
had been forgotten.

Baron Burnham, the eighty-year-old proprietor of the Telegraph, has lived to see the day when not a single important newspaper in London sells for more than a penny. The old slogan of the Telegraph, of "Largest Circulation in the World," ceased to be true with the advent of the half-penny or one cent press. Lord Northcliffe's Daily Mail, selling at this price, has gained a daily circulation of nearly a million copies, yet it has close competitors for supremacy. The halfpenny newspaper revolution began in 1896, and soon spread over the United Kingdom.

From its establishment in 1855 until 1874 the Daily Telegraph was Liberal in politics, but in the latter year it became a Conservative organ. When the Telegraph was launched the Times

had a circulation of a little over 50,000, but the Morning Advertiser, its nearest rival, printed less than 8,000 copies. The Telegraph quickly broke all circulation records. On a day in 1861 Fleet street was astounded
because the Telegraph sold 144,000 copies in a day. By 1877 the Telegraph's average daily sale was nearly a quarter of a million. The Telegraph had no really serious competition in the penny field until 1881, when the Morning Post, founded in 1772, reduced its price to a penny. The Times, which reduced its price to a penny last month and thus started a merry war,
was founded in 1788, and originally sold for nine cents. A century ago, when a newspaper war tax of eight cents per copy was in effect: The Times sold for fourteen cents. The price remained at six cents from 1851
until Lord Northcliffe became the controlling power in Printing House square.

in grasping the importance of the possession of Point Levi, which would enable him to batter with his artillery the lower part of the city. Montcalm had realized the importance of this position, and desired to plant there a battery and strong force of men, which would give him the command of both sides of the narrow entrance to the upper river, and prevent the British from shelling Quebec. Vaudreuil overruled this proposal, and this was the first of many serious military mistakes made by the defenders. On the afternoon of the 29th Wolfe completed his preparations to occupy Point Levi with Monkton's brigade. Before the sun went down on a cold June day a part of the troops were in possession of the village of Beesmont, on the south shore. The inhabitants of the vicinity were warned, by means of a proclamation posted on the church door, to maintain strict neutrality. On the morning of the 30th the remainder of the brigade were safely landed, and Wolfe had achieved his first victory of the campaign without the loss of a man. The advance to Point Levi, through forests and fields of grain,
was opposed by Canadian riflemen, who sought to "snipe" the advancing
troops from churches, houses and trees,
but they were quickly disposed of, and Wolfe was soon established in his strategical position. The siege of Quebec was on.

Though the Irish undoubtedly made linen before the time of James the First, its manufacture was not carried on to a great extent until the time of Charles the Second. The Scots in Ulster first established linen manufactories during the reign of James,
and from this beginning has the business of the present day developed.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

On the afternoon of the 29th of June,
in 1759, Wolfe commenced the first of those strategic movements of his troops by which he was destined to accomplish the apparently impossible and effect the conquest of Canada. The invading army was encamped on the Isle of Orleans, and their gallant general had spent three days in looking over the field. Point Levi heights, opposite Quebec, attracted his attention. At that point the river was less than a mile in width, and Wolfe was not slow

She Bought a Piano on a Train

ON being asked her reason for selecting a certain
"make" of piano, a woman explained that while she did not get her piano till December,
she really "bought" it on a train in July.

"It was like this," said she—"I had not thought much about pianos until I was about to be married and furnish a house to my own. Last summer, soon after I became engaged, I had to make a train journey. The daily paper I bought contained a striking advertisement of the Blank piano. It ended by saying "Investigate thoroughly before deciding." I did investigate and became convinced that the Blank piano was the best piano I could get for $500.00." This woman was right in stating that although she did not actually own

her piano until winter-time, she really "bought" it in July. She bought it on a train—she selected it that day she read the advertisement
which so forcibly impressed her.
And yet some firms imagine they can afford to withdraw their advertising in the summer months!
Pianos are not the only things people think about long before they have them sent home.
Every important purchase is considered long before the article is ordered. And we are just as likely to be convinced by an advertisement
we read in the summer as at any time.

year, and the next summer classes in this subject will be held in 1915.

The object of these courses is to give British Columbia teachers the opportunity to supplement their general knowledge and professional training, with the view of fitting them to introduce and carry on more successfully the above work in their respective schools. The courses will be held in the new High school pending the erection of the Victoria Normal school, which will be used in succeeding years for training of the kind. Hours of attendance will be from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. daily (with an hour's interval for lunch) with the exception of Saturdays, when the hours of attendance will be from 9 o'clock to noon.

In the various courses as much outdoor study will be undertaken as is found practicable and consistent with the studies arranged, and competent instructors will be in charge of the classes. Teachers actually engaged in teaching in the provincial schools will be able to take advantage of the classes, and will be admitted with free tuition, transportation to and from Victoria, and an allowance of $125 per diem for living expenses, provided attendance has been regular and work satisfactory.

In connection with this summer course the Carnegie library has made a special collection of books useful for students. These will be segregated as much as possible, and will be found in the current department of the library for the convenience of the teachers. The collection will include some special works of reference on art, etc., and in order to make it as easy as possible for teachers to take books special application forms will be issued which will require only the name of the teacher with the home address, the address in Victoria during the course, and the name of the school in which he teaches. The juvenile department will be open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily for the lending of books, and in the evening for those wishing to use any of the works of reference.

The following is a brief outline of the courses to be given:

Under rural science and school gardens—General practical work, 8 lectures in rural school administration, 8 lessons in school gardening, 12 lessons in plant study, 4 lessons in bird study, 12 on farm animals, 12 in horticulture and floriculture, field husbandry, weeds, bacteriology, weather, agricultural literature, forestry, etc. In manual training—Pedagogy, drawing, construction (woodwork), theory, etc. In manual arts—Pedagogy, drawing and applied work. FOUNDED ON FALSEHOOD

Pamphlet Sent From Hindustan-Gadgar, San Francisco, Contains Many Misstatements.

Copies of one of those mendacious leaflets about British rule in India, sent out from the notorious offices of the Hindustan-Gadgar party, San Francisco, is being circulated in Victoria. After its lying indictment of British rule, composed of half-truths and deliberate falsehoods which any encyclopedia would correct, this miserable misstatement winds up with the declaration that the military strength of the British consists of "79,614 English officers and soldiers and 39,848 volunteers. It is 56 years since the rebellion of 1857; now it is urgently necessary to have another."

It makes the statement that "Englishmen are not punished for murdering Hindus, and for insulting Hindu women."

Another item is the announcement that arts and crafts have been destroyed for England's benefit. The leaflet says the land is taxed 65 per cent, the writers being quite forgetful of the protections afforded by the Bengal Tenancy act and its amendments, and the fact that the British rule, in fact, has been a benefit to the tenants and the tenants-at-will; the ryotwari system in Madras, and similar principles like the survey tenure system in Bombay presidency.

Another falsehood is the allegation that under British rule families are ever on the increase and deaths from plague have increased in the last thirty years. The reader is told, in contrary, that an attempt is made to create enmity between the Hindus and Musselmans.

APPEAL COURT HEARS MUNSHI SINGH CASE

R. Cassidy, K. C., Argues Inquiry Board Not Justified in Declaring Him Laborer

In opening the case in behalf of Munshi Singh, of the Komagata Maru Hindus, before the court of appeal this morning, Robert Cassidy, K.C., devoted the greater part of his attention to establishing the proposition that the immigration department's board of inquiry had not been justified in finding that Munshi was a laborer coming within the order-in-council prohibiting the entrance of laborers from India to September 30, 1914. He went so far as to declare that the board made a deliberate misreading of the evidence, and that the court should not be misled by the board's finding.

The morning session was occupied entirely by Mr. Cassidy's argument. In opening he outlined several points which would be taken, but left the development of the points either for J. Edward Bird, who appeared with him in behalf of Munshi Singh, or for the concluding reply. The immigration department was represented by W. B. A. Ritchie, K.C., and W. H. D. Ladner. Mr. Ritchie announced in response to a question from the bench that the attorney-general of the province and of the Dominion had waived representation. The full court of five justices was in attendance and the court room was filled. Inspector Reid sat with his two counsel at the bar. Among the spectators were a number of Hindus, while as an evidence of the interest taken in the case in Vancouver, representatives of the newspapers of that city came over to the capital to report the proceedings.

Mr. Cassidy presaged his remarks with a reference to the jurisdiction of the court of appeal, but Mr. Justice Martin suggested that he need not trouble himself on that score until the jurisdiction was objected to.

Following this Mr. Cassidy referred to the fact that the notice of appeal from Mr. Justice Murphy's refusal of a writ of habeas corpus for Munshi had set out that objection was taken to the constitutionality of the Immigration act, but he did not propose to advance any argument on this point. Several clauses in the order of deportation, he stated, however, were not authorized by the Immigration act.

The opinions, he declared, were beyond the jurisdiction of the governor-general-in-council to make.

In the first place the order had stated that Munshi Singh was an Asiatic immigrant who did not have $200 in his possession. Mr. Cassidy maintained that the governor-general-in-council had not the power to prohibit any class of immigrants from landing because they did not have a specified amount of money. He gave his construction of the act and the order-in-council very clearly.

The clause in the act recited that the governor-general-in-council might provide a regulation that immigrants and tourists must have a certain amount of money before being given permission to land, the amount to vary according to race and other circumstances. Mr. Cassidy said this did not give the governor-general power to prohibit the landing of immigrants and tourists because they had not a specified amount of money. He drew a distinction between prohibition and regulation and pointed out that the regulation was in respect of permission to land. He argued that the meaning of the clause was that whenever a man could not otherwise land and the government for some reason desired to let him, in this was a saving clause by which the government could do so. If the government were given power to prohibit it would impose a power to do actual legislation. This was delegated power, and as such must be regarded narrowly.

He cited an instance. A tourist might come within some prohibited class, but the government was given power to issue him a permit to land if he had a certain amount of money. But he could not be refused originally because he had not that amount.

Another objection to the same clause was raised, namely that it gave effect to a discrimination which it was the wish of parliament to avoid. Parliament had been particular to mention both immigrants and tourists so that the immigrants should not be aggrieved. Supposing that instead of immigrants and tourists the act had mentioned Japanese and Chinese. Then if the governor-general-in-council had provided that the Chinese must have $200, and had not mentioned that Japanese must have $200, would that be a discrimination? He asked. He said that it would be a discrimination, but it would not be a discrimination between immigrants and tourists, and would not be put on an equal basis. It was true the amount of the sum required might vary under the act according to nationality and circumstances, but a saving clause must be required of all immigrants and tourists. Mr. Justice Martin stated the point to Mr. Cassidy's satisfaction when he remarked that the contention was that if there had been an omnibus clause to begin with, this specific requirement of $200 from Asiatic immigrants would have been right.

Dealing with another clause in the deportation order Mr. Cassidy maintained that the power to refuse admission to a man who had not come by direct journey was only given in individual cases, and could not be exercised until the man had reached Canada. He showed how the difference in wording between this clause and other clauses bore out this construction.

Chief Justice Macdonald remarked that such a construction would make the government a quasi court of appeal on each case as it arose and questioned if that was the intention of the legislating body. Mr. Cassidy said the section could be operated in that way, and it was clearly not the intention to make a general prohibition of all arrivals who did not come by direct journey from their native land. In dealing with the order-in-council respecting the refusal to admit unskilled laborers, Mr. Cassidy admitted that there was power to impose such a prohibition. The objection raised was that the evidence submitted to the board was insufficient to prove him a laborer.

Mr. Ritchie objected at once that the court could not review the proceedings of the board of inquiry. Mr. Cassidy replied that the lack of power to review lay where the proceedings before the board were in accordance with the act, but he maintained that the proceedings were not legal. He cited several cases, including the Thaw case, to show that where the order made was not in accordance with the statute the court of appeal might consider it. No legislation, he declared, had taken away the appeal to the court against unauthorized proceedings. If there were no appeal from a decision unsupported by any evidence, then the board could make an order in direct contravention of fact and there would be no remedy. Chief Justice Macdonald expressed the opinion that that was the exact situation here, and since the parliament had decreed it there was no redress.

Mr. Cassidy denied this. He admitted that the onus was upon the applicant for admission to prove that he was not a laborer. Accordingly he had gone into the box and sworn that he was a farmer.

"In the face of this, the person Hopkinson says, 'I don't believe' and he's held to be a laborer," declared Mr. Cassidy. "It's an outrage to say that on such a deliberate misreading of the evidence the board has decided that he is a laborer." Chief Justice Macdonald here opened the incident which resulted in Mr. Cassidy's withdrawal of the application against the board of inquiry.

On examination of the evidence before the board it was shown that Munshi had avowed his intention of taking up farming here, but the board had disbelieved him because he had only six sovereigns in his possession. He had sworn, however, that he could get more money by selling his land, as he owned a farm worth $5,000, rupees. Several members of the court expressed the opinion that the absence of money was sufficient evidence on which to disbelieve the witness' sworn statements. Mr. Cassidy held that this would be mere suspicion.

Mr. Bird took up the argument after noon adjournment.

MET THIS MORNING ON BRIDGE QUESTION

Aldermen Held Short Conference Regarding Johnson Street Bridge

The aldermen were called together hurriedly this morning to deal with matters affecting the Johnson street bridge, the desire being more to straighten out the existing situation than to present new matter. It is hoped the by-law will be ready for presentation to the city council in two weeks. Alderman Cuthbert is anxious to see the matter as far advanced as possible before resigning his seat, as he has been chairman of the committee since its inception.

Plans of the new jail were this morning before a joint committee of the police commissioners and a committee named by the city council to co-operate with them, the architect, J. C. M. Keith, attending. Now that the money is available, it is hoped that actual construction will not be long delayed on the Flaggard street site, as it is one of the few new works for which the city has money available for an immediate start.

The city council has been called together half an hour earlier than usual this evening in order that a deputation from the Retail Merchants' association may be heard prior to the Shops Early Closing by-law being taken up in committee by the aldermen. The section of the council which holds that the measure is inadequate, declared its opinion on the subject. The majority are prepared to vote for its adoption, regarding the measure as the only workable scheme.

Among other matters this evening the council has to select five directors for the Royal Jubilee hospital. A contract will be let for the supply of material to grade the high school grounds. The water department is giving notice that the services in the high level district, around Rockland avenue and the parts served from St. Charles street station, will be off from 5 p. m. to-day till 7 p. m., during the tests by the fire underwriters of the system in that district. As the fire protection part is concerned, this is the final test of the investigation being conducted by the representatives of the underwriters prior to any reduction being granted by the companies on rates for business property in Victoria. While nothing definite can be said till the report comes in, it is rumored that further requirements will have to be fulfilled, particularly in the direction bringing the electric wiring up to date in some of the downtown blocks, before a reduction is made. This wiring was installed at a time when the inspection was not as rigid as it is now, and when information on electricity was not matured as it is to-day.

EXPECT SALES WEEK TO PASS ALL RECORDS

Merchants Busy Preparing for Big Shopping Event; Crowds Will Come

As the opening of the combined July sales week approaches merchants of the city are feeling more and more convinced that the occasion will be the biggest shopping event ever witnessed in Victoria. Indications are that each day from July 2 to July 11 will be an enlarged repetition of the recent Dollar Day, which was marked down in the records as the largest event in the bargain shopping line that the city had had up to that time. It is fully expected that the crowds during the sales days will far exceed those of even Dollar Day, for it is now assured that large numbers of people living in various parts of the island will take advantage of the occasion to come into the city and swell the proportions of the great concourse applying for the unusual bargains to be obtained.

To-day has been a busy day for the merchant. They have been in the midst of preparations for the big event, which will inaugurate a new departure in the business life of the community. The individual July sales heretofore held are to make place for the combined event, and the preparations are of very large proportions.

There are to be bargains in dry goods, shoes, furniture and clothing, and the surprising variety of articles to be had will be indicated in the extensive advertisements which will appear in the Times to-morrow. By perusing these advertisements the householders of the city and surrounding districts may inform themselves of what may be bought advantageously in Victoria during the sales week, and no doubt they will find many bargains in articles for which they have experienced a need.

While this is the first time that the merchants have combined, they already feel that it is no experiment. So many indications of the volume of business which will be transacted between July 2 and 11 have been forthcoming that the success of the event is already assured. The merchants feel that their difficulty will not be so much to find customers for their many bargains, as to handle the great rush which will start as soon as the sale opens.

There is one consideration which will contribute greatly to the success of the sale, and that is the delightful weather which is promised for the days selected. This will assist in bringing large numbers to the city.

Something for the Visitors.—Civic officials were somewhat surprised to hear through the open windows at the city hall the other day the loquacious cicerone of the seelie-Victoria cars state that the city hall was being painted for the first time in 24 years. That it needed a coat of paint no one will deny, but it is much less than 24 years since it was painted last.

Household Economics.—A meeting was held this afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. for the purpose of formally organizing a Household Economics league. Mrs. R. S. Day was in the chair, and Mrs. G. L. The meeting excited considerable interest, and a large number of ladies attended.

DEATH OF ARCHDUKE
WAS ACT OF REVENGE

Slavs Bitterly Resented Annexation of Bosnia at Expense of Serbia

London, June 29.—The fact that Archduke Francis Ferdinand met his death in the capital of Bosnia, the annexation of which to Austria has been attributed to his initiative, and that the crime was committed by Slavs, who have bitterly resented his extension of territory at the expense of Serbia, leads to the belief that the crime was an act of revenge for the successful coup of 1908.

At that time the annexation of Bosnia caused a sensation in Europe and threatened to drag the powers into the off-predicted European war through Russia becoming involved with Austria in defence of the Slavs of Serbia. The resentment of the Slavs against the archduke was never over, although he exerted himself in showing the keenest interest in their aspirations, and had latterly been accused by the dominant nationalities in Austria-Hungary, Germany and Magyars of having favored the Slavs against their interests.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand's death is apt to have considerable effect upon European politics. He invariably sided with the military party of his country wherever it came into conflict with the civil authorities, and this has on occasions led to the charge that he would not even be a going to war with Austria's ally, Italy, if it would in any way increase Austrian influence in the Near East.

The archduke's friendship with the German emperor also gave his enemies in Europe an opportunity to accuse him of favoring an aggressive policy, and it had been a fetish in the continental capitals that when he came to the throne there would be an end to the peace that had prevailed among the great powers.

Personally the archduke and his wife were almost as great favorites in England as they were in Germany, court circles. They were frequent visitors to London, generally coming incognito, because of the court etiquette, which prevented the duchess from being officially recognized for the reason that she was not of royal blood.

Last year the archduke and the duchess visited King George and Queen Mary at Windsor and were shown every possible attention.

It was generally believed that upon the archduke's accession Hungary would recognize the duchess as Queen of Hungary, and that in time the archduke would succeed in getting Austria to do likewise, although the children could never hope to ascend to the throne.

DECORATE GRAVES

Annual Ceremony of Eagles Observed Yesterday; Services Held at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Nearly 300 Eagles and their friends formed in the procession which went out yesterday to Ross Bay cemetery to decorate the graves, the ranks forming at Eagles' hall at 2.30, and parading to Ross Bay, headed by Rowland's band. In the procession was an automobile beautifully decorated with flowers, surmounting all being the eagle, with spread wings, poised on a flower-towered column, while about fifty little boys and girls, children of members of the fraternity, marched in the ranks.

At the cemetery Rev. J. B. Warnick delivered an address on fraternalism, pointing out its worthy purpose and advantages, this being followed by the roll-call, a song sounding when there was no response to the call. J. L. Hackett, worthy president of the order, gave an address on Eaglesdom, telling something of its history and its good work, after which a quartette was given by four of the members, followed by a solo. The ceremony of decorating the graves was preceded by the delivery of the Benediction by the prelate of the Eagles and the singing of the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee" with hand accompaniment. Wreaths were placed on a large number of the graves, which were marked out by the Eagles' sign, and members afterwards met and marched back to the city.

Garden Party.—The Young Ladies' Bible class of Centennial Methodist church will hold their annual garden party on Wednesday, July 8, in Mitchell's Grove, corner of Washington and George road.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of the late Mrs. A. M. Howell and her infant son will be held on Wednesday from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McLaren, 404 Linden avenue, at 2.30 p.m. Rev. Joseph McCoy will conduct the services. Word was received yesterday that Mr. McLaren will arrive here tomorrow morning from Lanigan, Sask. The untimely death of Mrs. Howell has greatly shocked a large circle of friends, her parents and husband being the recipients of many messages of sympathy from Victorians and relatives in the east.

The death occurred yesterday morning at the Royal Jubilee hospital of David Clarke, the five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clarke, 739 Pembroke street. The funeral, which is being arranged by the Sands Funeral Furnishing company, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the above address, and half an hour later from St. Andrew's cathedral, where Rev. Father Leternie will conduct the service.

A telegram from London, Ont., announces the death of Mrs. Kennen, wife of Rev. J. Kennen, a superannuated minister of the London conference of the Methodist church, and mother of Mrs. Thompson, of Wesley parlour, this city. The deceased lady had been ill for some months and passed away last night at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. W. R. Bell.

ANNIVERSARY HELD.

Pupils of Metropolitan Methodist Sunday School Held Special Celebration.

Sunday school anniversary services were held yesterday at the Metropolitan Methodist church, an unusually large number of children being present, and many adults, while the Sunday school was prettily decorated with flowers banked along the platform and arranged in other parts of the room. A special programme was given by the pupils, who sang several sacred songs and delivered recitations, while Miss Elliott, the deaconess, and her brother sang a duet. The Sunday school orchestra also provided a number of instrumental selections which made the programme additionally interesting in this respect.

Addresses were given during the afternoon by two visiting ministers, Rev. G. D. Falls, of Kamloops, and Rev. Mr. Wright, of London, Eng., who is visiting the city at the present time. Their talks were listened to with great attention and interest by the children, and during the proceedings the assistant pastor of the Metropolitan church, Rev. Joseph Philip, also spoke to the young people. The programme was a most enjoyable one, the proceedings being presided over by Superintendent Brown.

Three Engineers Hurt On Big Ship Minnesota

Seattle, June 29.—Three members of the engine room crew were badly injured and the big liner Minnesota was compelled to drop anchor off Port Townsend by an accident in the engine room at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, as the ship was steaming from the Sound, en route for the Orient. A brass connecting-rod pin became overheated and blew out.

M. Bullis was badly crushed on his right side and it was necessary to amputate his arm above the elbow. F. Morjenson was rendered unconscious and badly burned and scratched about the head and face. H. Codling suffered severe head burns. Codling was able to return to the ship, but the other men were immediately removed to the marine hospital at Port Townsend.

Dr. P. L. Carter, health officer of the port, was in attendance upon the men. He believes both men will recover.

Officials of the steamship company have been informed that repairs can be made at Port Townsend.

BELLINGHAM EXCURSION

Judging from the number of tickets which have been disposed of so far, and the insistent demand which is being experienced at the local offices of the C. P. R., the crack steamer Princess Patricia will carry a large number of excursionists to Bellingham, Wash., next Saturday. The vessel sails from here at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and returning will arrive here shortly before 11 o'clock. The trip through the many islands is one of the most picturesque on the coast.

THE CITY MARKET

There is a general drop in the whole sale prices of fruit this week, and good quotations are given in the market. Apples, peaches, cantaloupes, etc., while watermelons, red currants, and black currants are in season. New potatoes are quoted retail at 4c, eggs have advanced to 3c, and Swift's ham has dropped 3 cents.

VOLUME OF DEALINGS RESTRICTED IN LIST

Probability of Rate Hearings Being Rendered July 3 Checks Initiative

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

New York, June 29.—The volume of dealings in the stock market was restricted but nervousness was not in evidence. Tendency of the list was to record a lower range in view of the lean support accorded, yet the bear element were slow in making new commitments.

It is now the general expectancy that the decision in the eastern rate cases will be handed down on July 3rd at the latest and the trading initiative holds quiet until that date or previously shall actually see the hearings rendered.

In other stocks, International sold at 27c, which is a little above previous transactions. Values were largely a repetition of Saturday.

Other Oils Quiet With More Importance Attached to Late Session

Regardless of what appeared a softening in the range of oil issues this morning, Athabasca again advanced and bore every aspect of sound strength, with sales at $1.55, the highest price yet on the local stock exchange. Black Diamond drew support and offerings of Trenton were less cheap.

Generally hesitancy in oils was apparent, more significance being attached to this department at the afternoon session which is now to meet daily at 2.30 p.m., at which time latest Calgary quotations are on file.

In other stocks, International sold at 27c, which is a little above previous transactions. Values were largely a repetition of Saturday.

Wheat Closed Three-Eighths to Half Low

Winnipeg, June 29.—The Winnipeg market opened unchanged to a higher and advanced gradually until prices reached 1c to 1 1/2c higher than Saturday's closing. Later they weakened, and at noon quotations stood at opening figures except October, which was 1/2c lower. During the previous 24 hours rains were reported in southern Alberta and northwestern Saskatchewan, and light showers in parts of Manitoba.

The cash demand was fair. Exporters were buying No. 1 western wheat extensively. Oats were firm, shorts covering and stock decreasing rapidly, and currently and October 1st close was weak, considerable liquidation taking place. Cash wheat closed 1/2c to 3/4c lower, and cash oats 1/2c to 3/4c lower. Total receipts of wheat for the week were 550 cars.

THE OFFICERS' CASTE IN GERMAN ARMY

Class Distinctions Are Very Exclusive and Rigid; No Promotion From Ranks

The demand for a "democratization" of the army, such as was raised in England after the Curragh incident, has long been known in Germany. But it comes from the Social Democrats alone. The rest of the country, however much it may protest against particular restrictions, agrees on the whole with the attitude and arguments of those in authority. In a conscript army, it is said, the officers' corps must inspire respect, and without "birth and training" respect is impossible. As a result, for all practical purposes, the army remains the prerogative of a special class.

From every officer aspirant in Germany is demanded proof that he springs from an "honorable and reputable family," and this demand is strictly interpreted. No one whose relatives are touched with the taint of retail trade can expect admission, no son of a subordinate civil servant, of a commercial or financial employee, of a "Volkschulmeister," or of anyone in fact below the academic class or that of the larger industrialists. The Jew, too, is strictly excluded. Theoretically there are no restrictions of creed, but here the officers themselves step in with their veto. Every regimental mess has the right to elect its new members, and in the past the Kaiser himself has consented to propose Jewish candidates, they have been invariably rejected. In Bavaria there are occasional exceptions, but even here the Jewish officer is very rare.

As the result of this right of election many regiments are still exclusively noble, and for the "burgerlicher" officer the field of choice is strictly limited. In part this is the result of tradition which assigns particular regiments to officers from particular families. But to a large extent it is due to the fact that the aristocrat naturally prefers service in Berlin or some other large centre to the dreary round of garrison duty on the Russian or French frontier. To the lieutenant of noble birth every mess is open, to the non-noble only those which are not already filled by his aristocratic competitors.

No Promotion From Ranks. For all practical purposes promotion from the ranks does not exist. There have been instances in war-time when a non-commissioned officer has been made lieutenant, but in every case these "ranker" officers have been put on the retired list at the end of the war. Occasionally, too, as a reward for most exceptional services, a non-commissioned officer is raised on retirement to commissioned rank, but as the title is little more than honorary it forms no real exception to the general rule. The officers of the clothing and supply departments have, it is true, almost all risen from the ranks, but the line of distinction drawn between these officials and the active officer is very sharp. Even the army surgeon himself is treated as an inferior and has no right of admission into the officers' mess.

In general it may be said that for the German officer a private income is essential. It is perhaps just possible for him to drag out an existence on his very meagre pay in one of the frontier garrisons where most expenses are small and no social demands are made upon his purse. But even then the difficulties of making both ends meet are so great that only quite exceptional characters have determination enough to continue the struggle. For the sons of officers who have distinguished themselves in the state service an exception is made in that financial aid is very often given out of the Kaiser's private purse. In the two personal regiments of the Kaiser, the Gardes du Corps and the 1st Foot Guards, both of which are stationed in Potsdam, financial help is said to be almost invariably given, and that in very large amounts.

Before entering the army and before permission is given for him to marry the officer must produce evidence to show that he is able to support himself in a manner befitting his station. This necessary income varies with every regiment. In some exceptional cases, as has been said, it is just possible for the officer to live on his pay. In the Guard Cavalry, the most select of all regiments, an income of at least 1400 to 1600 is required. In certain Westphalian and Silesian regiments, patronized particularly by the scions of the great industrial families, the standard of living is probably much higher. But in general heavy expenditure is discouraged, and running into debt is fatal to an officer's career.

Caste and Promotion. Whether birth still plays an important part in the promotion of the officer within the army itself it is difficult to judge. There are many complaints among Liberals and Socialists that the non-noble officer can never hope for a position of real authority. At the first glance this charge would appear to be well grounded, since no officer of really high rank bears a "burgerlicher" name. But the injustice is more apparent than real. In practice the non-noble officer, if he shows real merit, is rarely kept back; he is promoted, and at the same time receives a patent of nobility. In this way the efficiency of the army and the shibboleth of caste are equally maintained.

To the impartial observer, with the experience of other armies before him, there can be little doubt that the supposed military interests which demand these class distinctions are nothing more than the interests of the privileged class itself. Nevertheless, one thing must be said in justice to the German aristocrat. As an officer he takes his duties very seriously, and, unless appearances are very deceptive, still performs them as well if not better than the officers of more democratic armies. Politically the aristocracy as a class may be one of the greatest stumbling blocks in the way of Germany's development; from the purely military standpoint it is still an enormous asset.

The daughter of a very prominent Liberal statesman is telling this story against herself, says the Daily Sketch. She was footling round the links North Berwick way, accompanied by an elderly outspoken caddy. "Do you think I'm improving in my game at all, Sandy?" she remarked casually. "No, I said 'at' go see your father as to say that, laddy, but you've got a good grip o' the language."
